CANCER VICTIM LOSES HER RACE WITH DEATH

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (UP)—A cancer-stricken Canadian woman died on a liner in the English Channel today only 24 hours' sailing time from her birthplace in Holland where she had wanted to spend her last days.

Mrs. Antonia Manders, 27, was en route from Sudbury, Ont., to Beckel, Holland.

Her husband, Cornelius, was by her side at the end. Their 21-month-old son, Willy, was asleep.

The Manders raced 1,000 miles in 26 hours by ambulance from Sudbury to Hoboken, N.J., to board the liner March 8.

Crack French Unit Rushed to Algeria

Mushrooming Rebellion Prompts Emergency Meeting of Cabinet

(From Reuters, UP)

ALGIERS—At least 107 rebels today were reported killed near La Fayette, in eastern Algeria, in the fiercest battle since Algeria's Nationalist rebellion began 17 months ago.

This casualty figure was announced by officials here tonight after a 36-hour running battle in which French armored cars, infantry and jet fighters encircled and pounded a rebel band.

France ordered new reinforcements into Algeria today in a mighty effort to smash mushrooming violence and rebellion.

The move was ordered at a special meeting of cabinet members and army men in Paris as Arab guerillas set fire to an apartment house in the heart of Algiers this morning, apparently hoping to roast its French residents alive. No one was injured, but 100 automobiles in the building's garage were destroyed.

The crack Seventh Mechanized Division is being withdrawn from NATO forces in Germany and rushed to this terror-ridden land.

CURFEW

At Cyprus British authorities clamped a 24-hour curfew on the towns of Limassol and Kato Zodhia. The action placed their 76,000 inhabitants under virtual house arrest.

Meanwhile an Egyptian military spokesman at Cairo said an Israeli position opened automatic fire across the truce line at an Egyptian position near Deir el Ballah in the Gaza strip today.

DREW BACKS ALL-CANADIAN GAS PIPELINE

Publicly Owned If Necessary

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Battle lines have been drawn in what promises to be a long, hot Commons fight on the government's plan for public treasury help in a cross-Canada natural gas pipeline.

Possibility of United States capital taking control of the Alberta-Ontario natural gas pipeline caused Progressive Conservatives and the CCF to join forces Thursday to denounce the government's pipeline scheme as a blow to Canada's national pride.

Rt. Hon C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, said the federal government's plan for financial assistance from the Ottawa and Ontario treasuries, was the best of several schemes. The federal plan calls for a crown company to build the all-Canadian pipeline through the uneconomic Manitoba-border-to-Kapuskasing section of the route.

UNPRECEDENTED ACTION

Even before Mr. Howe could read his lengthy prepared statement in defence of the government's proposed legislation to establish the crown company, the government had to beat down an unprecedented CCF move to prevent the House considering the measure.

Mr. Howe said private enterprise alone faced serious difficulties in financing a pipeline stretching across the sparsely populated areas of northern Ontario.

"Some kind and degree of public intervention appeared necessary and proper," he added.

Opposition leader George drew in his 90-minute condemnation of the federal plan, demanded an all-Canadian line financed by Canadian capital. But if that proved impossible—and he saw no reason why it should—his party as an alternative would support public ownership of the entire line.

Dollar-a-Day Plan To Start in 1957; Excludes Bedridden

Health Minister Eric Martin today announced the B.C. government will provide chronic care under B.C. Hospital Insurance in one year.

He emphasized that nursing home patients, "or more specifically, the bedridden aged and infirm," will not be eligible for coverage.

Cost of chronic care to the individual patient will be on a "dollar-a-day" basis.

The new plan was described by Premier Bennett as the most important announcement made by his government concerning BCHIS.

Health Minister Martin said the program will go into operation in about one year's time, with B.C. carrying the financial burden until the federal government's national health program is functioning.

Details of the definition of chronic care have not yet been worked out between the federal and provincial governments, but Mr. Martin said the federal government's stand has been made clear.

"Its proposed program included care of chronic hospital patients requiring rehabilitation or other intensive treatment services, but not those receiving nursing home care, or more specifically, the bedridden and infirm patients," said Mr. Martin.

Initial impact of the plan will be to lift a heavy case load of chronic patients from B.C.'s acute care hospitals.

Multi-Million Hospital Expansion

Mr. Martin said the first step in the plan will be a vigorous effort on the part of the provincial government to get a multi-million dollar chronic hospital building program under way.

It is estimated that one chronic bed will be required for every 1,000 of population. The figure does not include nursing homes or other custodial forms of facility.

At an estimated cost of $8,000 a bed, B.C. would require 1,300 chronic beds at a total cost of $10,400,000.

"For the past two years, efforts have been made to encourage communities to construct chronic hospital facilities," said Mr. Martin.

"The most generous construction formula in Canada was devised, whereby the province would pay 50 per cent of the costs. But it was to no avail, because the communities could not face the cost of operation.

"It gives me pleasure to announce that this government is prepared to extend the coverage of the B.C. Hospital Insurance service to include those people suffering from a chronic ailment, and who are receiving either rehabilitative treatment or intensive services in a chronic hospital upon payment of a dollar a day.

"This dollar a day chronic care program is designed to fit into the national health care program when it starts," the minister said.

Won't Wait for Federal Plan

"The B.C. plan should be in operation in about a year's time and although it is not expected the national health care plan will be functioning at that time, the provincial government will carry the plan until the federal plan commences.

"Cost would be borne on a 70 cents per diem grant by municipalities, 70 cents per diem grant by the provincial government, $1 a day by the patient, and the remainder from consolidated revenues."

When the federal plan goes into operation, B.C. and Ottawa will split hospital costs, including the defined "chronic care" on a 50-50 basis.

Mr. Martin said, "it is anticipated this entry into care of certain chronic patients will spur on communities to construct much needed chronic hospital facilities.

"It is because of this that we intend to call a conference of hospital, municipal and other interested authorities in the near future. Such a construction program will be thoroughly aired at that time."

He said the program will serve to lessen the burden on acute hospital facilities.

BCHIS First-Year Coverage Given Families of Servicemen

Details of a plan to cover servicemen's dependents under BCHIS during their first year of residence in B.C. were announced today by Health Minister Eric Martin.

The plan, effective May 15, calls for graduated payments, and registration within two weeks of arrival in B.C.

Under existing conditions, servicemen's dependents are not eligible for BCHIS coverage for their first 12 months in B.C.

Mr. Martin said the provincial government will arrange for coverage "upon payment of a nominal registration fee set at $10 for a spouse, and $2.50 for each child, with a maximum of $20 per family."

OTTAWA BALKS

Mr. Martin said negotiations have been carried out with the Department of National Defence, with B.C. offering to bear more than two-thirds the cost of providing hospital insurance benefits, but that "the federal government has declared itself unwilling to meet any portion of the cost of such a plan."

"Coverage for the serviceman's family will commence when registration is made and the prescribed fee paid," said the health minister.

He stressed that registrations must be made within two weeks of arrival in B.C.

"Only servicemen normally posted to the province will be eligible, while those in the province briefly for inspectional, instructional or other special duty will not be eligible.

"Coverage will be in B.C. general hospitals only, but a serviceman posted out of the province within 12 months of registration, and whose dependents did not receive any hospital insurance benefits, may apply for a pro rata refund of the registration fee paid.

"All servicemen in the province at present may make registration up to May 15, at which time benefits of this plan will begin.

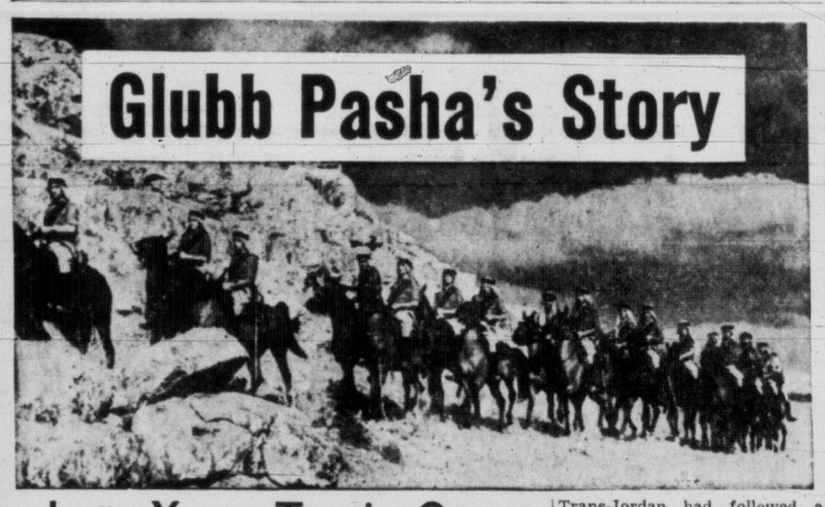
"Servicemen arriving after that date will be able to obtain coverage for their dependents if registration is made within two weeks of arrival."

CROSSWORD PRIZE $175; 'SCOT' WAS NOT 'SHOT'

The Times' crossword contest prize for subscribers jumps to $175 this week as puzzlers failed again to get a correct combination of all the answers.

"Shot" was one of the big teasers last week, most contestants giving "Scot" as the answer. Other stumbling blocks were "idioms" instead of "idiots" and "skit" instead of "suit."

Complete answer to last week's puzzle with explanation of more difficult clues and a new puzzle for this week are published on Page 26 of today's Times.



Glubb Pasha's Story

Late Years Tragic Ones For Kingdom of Jordan

Firing of Lt.-Gen. John Glubb, British commander of the famed Arab Legion, by Jordan's young King Hussein, fanned the flames of the Arab-Israeli tension. This is the second of five articles.

By GLUBB PASHA

Copyright, 1956, by Canada-Wide Feature Service

In my Thursday article, I said that the incidents connected with my dismissal from the Arab Legion could only be understood if viewed in the light of the history of the last 40 years. I propose today to attempt a brief historical survey of those 40 years in Jordan.

The Kingdom of Jordan, as at present constituted, consists of two halves divided from one another by the River Jordan. East of the river lies Trans-Jordan, a country constituted into an Amirate (or princedom) in 1921. West of the Jordan lies that part of Palestine which still belongs to the Arabs. The two halves were united five years ago into the Kingdom of Jordan. The histories of these two halves from 1916 to 1948 were however entirely different, and must needs be treated separately.

Let us first consider Arab Palestine. In 1916, when the British army was advancing across Sinai to Palestine, the British government agreed with the Sherif Husain of Mecca that he would rise in revolt against the Turks. In return, he was promised that all the Arab countries would be freed from the Turks and given independent governments after the war. A year later, however, the British government issued the Balfour declaration, in which it was stated that Britain viewed with favour the establishment of a national home for the Jews in Palestine.

NURSED GRIEVANCE

For forty years, the Arabs of Palestine have nursed this grievance. In the last 20 years they have increasingly passed on their grievance to the Arabs outside Palestine. All our work in Jordan has been poisoned by the charge that Britain breaks her pledges.

From 1936 to 1939, the Arabs of Palestine rose in rebellion against the British mandatory government, which was permitting the entry of Jews on a large scale. There was a lull in the disturbances from 1939 to 1942, but in the latter year, Jewish terrorists in Palestine opened a campaign of atrocities against British troops. The Arab Legion, as an allied army, fought beside the British army against the Jewish terrorists from 1942 to 1948.

In 1947, Britain surrendered the mandate for Palestine, and evacuated the country on May 15, 1948.

Meanwhile, the history of Trans-Jordan had followed a course very different from that of Palestine. The British government had refused to allow Jews to migrate to Trans-Jordan, and in that country the original framework of Arab society remained in existence. In 1921, the Amir Abdullah, the son of Sherif Husain of Mecca (the recipient of the British promises in 1916) was proclaimed ruler. The Arab Legion was raised in 1921 as the Amir Abdullah's army.

From 1921 to 1939, Trans-Jordan advanced rapidly in prosperity and education under the wise patriarchy of the Amir Abdullah. In 1939, when war broke out, the Amir cabled to the British government offering all the resources of his country and army to the Allied cause. It is curious now to remember that the British government replied that the war would be confined to Europe and that the Middle East would not be affected.

DARKEST MOMENT

In 1940, however, France collapsed and the Germans and Italians arrived in Trans-Jordan's neighbor, Syria, which was a French mandate. In April, 1941, Iraq declared war on Britain. Meanwhile British troops had been evicted from Greece. It was the darkest moment of Britain's fortunes. But the Amir Abdullah was undismayed. No other Arab leader believed that Britain could survive.

The Amir Abdullah cabled his offer again, and this time it was gratefully accepted. The Arab Legion marched with the British army and invaded Syria. Arabia as far north as the frontier of Turkey was cleared of the enemy. We do not abandon our friends just because times are bad, declared the Amir Abdullah.

During the war, the strength of the Arab Legion rose to 16,000 men. Amid all the turmoils of war and politics, Trans-Jordan alone was always quiet, contented and friendly.

I distinctly remember an American reporter who spent a week in Trans-Jordan in 1945. He called on me before leaving. "General," he said, "I guess

DAWLEY ESCAPES POSSIBLE LIFE SENTENCE — GIVEN SEVEN YEARS

'I Am in a State of Humiliation Toward Society'

Special to The Times

NANAIMO—Clifford Dawley, 46, till recently one of Canada's most wanted criminals, stood convicted in Assize Court here late Thursday afternoon and gave an impassioned plea for leniency.

Before he was sentenced to seven years and heard an habitual criminal charge dropped, Dawley said, "I am in a state of humiliation toward society."

He spoke fluently, his words flowing smoothly, earnestly. "I have failed and like a small child stung by a hornet, suffered. I have failed in my duty to a good wife." The packed courtroom, so hushed as to seem empty, was filled with the prisoner's low tones. "My one wish is to dedicate my life to my little girl and my wife who have taught me so many things," he said.

"And I realize that the attitude I have held toward my fellow men was wrong. I ask God to give me strength . . . the sun does not set so rosy when a man has lost his dignity. I ask leniency on behalf of my family."

There was silence in the court for a long moment, then Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes replied:

"I also have to consider society. You were tried before a jury and myself on 7th and 8th of March in this court and found guilty of three charges. (Two of car theft and one of possession of housebreaking implements.)

"It is expedient to protect the public against you."

Previous to Dawley's appeal, Mr. Justice McInnes told the prisoner "you have not been held as an habitual criminal and have been given another chance. You have a long record and it is bad. If you are to be re-habilitated there must be this is the only country in the world I have ever been to, where everybody is pleased with their own government." Happy days indeed.

GREAT CONTRAST

Thus, when the British mandate ended in May, 1948, Palestine was torn by violence and seething with hatred. Across the River Jordan, Trans-Jordan enjoyed an idyllic happiness and calm. The people of Palestine were deeply imbued with hatred for Britain, who had been the cause of so many miseries by permitting Jewish emigration on a large scale. A hundred yards away across the little River Jordan, the people were quiet and contented and British visitors were everywhere welcomed with smiles and traditional Arab hospitality.

When Britain surrendered the mandate for Palestine, the United Nations produced their own partition plan, to divide the country between the Jews and the Arabs. Under this plan, by far the greater part of Palestine allotted to the Arabs was contiguous with the frontier of Trans-Jordan. Great numbers of Arab residents in this area petitioned King (formerly Amir) Abdullah, to occupy their country and unite it to Trans-Jordan. The British government was consulted and made no objections.

Accordingly, on May 15, 1948, the Arab legion was ordered to cross the Jordan and occupy that part of Palestine allotted to the Arabs by the UN partition plan, and lying contiguous with the frontier of Trans-Jordan.

I well remember that blazing day in May, with the dust hanging heavily over the main roads as the long columns wound their way down the mountain valleys from Amman to the Jordan. The troops had decorated their trucks with green branches and flowers, as though they were going to a wedding. They were all singing loudly, as all troops do when they feel happy, waving and laughing at people standing beside the road.

The Arab Legion bore the brunt of the fighting against Israel in 1948. When at last an armistice was made in the spring of 1949, the only areas of Palestine left to the Arabs were those which had been held by the Arab Legion and Iraq army. The Egyptian army had retained a small strip of land at Gaza, while the Syrian and Lebanese forces had retained nothing.

DISTASTEFUL TO ARABS

Such a result was extremely distasteful to other Arab countries, especially as the Arab Legion had been commanded by British officers. Such intense propaganda campaigns were inaugurated, that before long it was generally believed all over the Arab countries that the Arab Legion had betrayed the cause in 1948.

Maps are little used by the public in the Middle East, and few realized that almost all the Arab areas left in Palestine had been saved by the Arab Legion alone.

Meanwhile the Israeli authorities had done all they could to drive out any Arabs remaining in their area. Half a million destitute refugees poured into Jordan.

The original Balfour declaration had stated that His Majesty's government viewed with favor the establishment of a national home for the Jews in Palestine, subject to the proviso that no moral or material injury be suffered by the non-Jewish inhabitants. Nearly two-thirds of the "non-Jewish inhabitants" had now been driven from their homes and were living destitute under the open sky or in caves in the mountains.

It is true that the Arabs themselves were at least partly to blame. The British government had made several offers for a settlement during the previous 30 years and all had been categorically rejected. It was the Arabs themselves who had demanded Britain's surrender of the mandate, as a result of which so many had become refugees. But in the humiliation and anguish of disaster, very few paused to make a balanced estimate of the causes of their misfortune. If they attempted to do so, the voice of propaganda and passion soon drowned the voice of reason. And in any case there could be no doubt that the Palestine Arabs had had a bad deal from Britain.

THREE GROUPS

Two years after the armistice, what was left of Arab Palestine became united to Trans-Jordan to form the modern kingdom of Jordan. The population of the new kingdom consisted of three groups, each forming about one-third of the inhabitants. The first group were the original inhabitants of Trans-Jordan. The second consisted of the inhabitants of that area of Palestine which was still Arab, and the third was the refugees. Each group consisted of about half a million souls, giving a total population of just under 1,500,000. To realize the meaning of the statement that one-third of the people of Jordan are destitute refugees, it may be helpful to compare Jordan to Britain. If one-third of the people of Britain were refugees, it would mean that there would be 17,000,000 destitutes camped in the fields and the woods all over Britain.

It is not surprising that there have recently been disturbances. It is on the contrary almost a miracle that no such disturbances have occurred before. Jordan has lived for eight years in a tragic state of destitution. The United Nations has failed to produce any proposal for a solution. During these eight years, almost every other Arab country in the Middle East has suffered revolutions, coups d'etat and disturbances, while Jordan, the victim of the Palestine disaster, remained quiet and orderly.

It could not last forever. For I had served Jordan most of my life. The plea I would make is not satisfaction for myself, but that the great powers should at last face this problem, and put an end to the tragic plight of the kingdom of Jordan.

time left in which you will receive benefit."

Case re-opened Thursday afternoon at 2.30 with defence lawyer Larry Hill, Vancouver, claiming there was no evidence to prove that Dawley should be charged as an habitual criminal. He cited many instances when accused had been gainfully employed in many varied capacities. There was proof, Hill said, that Dawley had worked as a carpenter, painter, cafe operator, steel worker, trucker and wood cutter.

Mr. Hill concluded his 35-minute appeal saying "Dawley is a man with whom something can be done. I understand there are many waiting to help him." Mr. Hill asked that Dawley's ago be considered. "A long sentence would place him beyond redemption and life would pass him by."

In the prisoner's box Dawley was neat in a sport jacket, slacks, natty polka-dot shirt and red striped tie.

Lawyer A. G. McCulloch contended for the Crown that Dawley should be convicted as an habitual criminal under the revised Criminal Code "preventive detention" clause. If applied, the sentence would have been tantamount to life imprisonment. Justice McInnes said however, "I cannot uphold the application of the Crown and dismiss the charge. He then sentenced Dawley to seven years for the auto theft and housebreaking implements charge at Duncan in December, 1953.

Defence counsel Larry Hill, Vancouver, had earlier tried to block proceedings against Dawley, claiming his client had not been served proper notice of attorney-general's department intent within the prescribed time.

Witness Cpl. E. Nuttall, RCMP was called to testify that he had served the necessary notice on the accused regarding his criminal record Feb. 13 at Oakalla. Judge McInnes then ruled against the stay, and proceeded to prove that Dawley should be considered an "habitual criminal."

LENGTHY RECORD

Dawley's record dates back to 1924 when he was 15 and got into trouble for riding freight trains and being involved in a highway robbery episode. At Edmonton in 1927 he was in trouble again and at Victoria the following year drew a six month sentence for possession of stolen goods. While serving another 15 month term at Penticton he escaped jail and fled to the United States but shortly after was deported back to Canada.

In 1932 he was again convicted of theft and breaking and entering, and in 1935 at Victoria was sentenced to four years.

In 1938 he was involved in robbery with violence and was sentenced again in 1940 and 1946 at Nanaimo for similar offences. While serving sentence at Oakalla he escaped on two occasions and later escaped from a Vancouver hospital. He was at large for two years until picked up while working in a Toronto garage. A tip from a resident who saw a police line up picture in Weekend magazine was Dawley's final undoing.

Eversfield Denies Charge by Sommers

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Sun says Charles Wilmott Eversfield has denied charges made against him by R. E. Sommers in his speech of resignation in the B.C. legislature as forests and mines minister.

Mr. Sommers accused Mr. Eversfield of having "fled" to the United States after trying to "shake down" his Vancouver employers.

He said Mr. Eversfield "sneaked back" into Canada to swear an affidavit concerning him.

Mr. Sommers has sued Mr. Eversfield's lawyer, David Sturdy of Vancouver, for slander in connection with statements Mr. Sturdy made when he attempted to place Mr. Eversfield's "body of evidence" before the Sloan forestry commission.

"I am most emphatic," Mr. Eversfield told the Sun in a telephone interview from Los Angeles, "in stating that allegations of an attempted shakedown are false and have no foundation whatever."

He also denied he fled to the U.S. and then sneaked back into Canada.

Tory Senator Hits Beautification Plan

(From Times News Services)

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader in the Senate, said Thursday the government is "aping" the United States with extravagant plans to turn Ottawa into a national showplace.

He made the statement shortly before the Senate adopted a resolution to form a Senate-Commons committee to review the Ottawa beautification program directed by the 20-member federal district commission.

Senator Haig said he is not opposed to the establishment of the committee but added: "I am against this kind of extravagence and expense until we are ready for it."

Before plans of this type were started, something should be done for Canadians needing medical assistance and for the jobless and old age pensioners.

Establishment of the joint committee to study the development of the visionary national capital plan was approved last week by the Commons.

At that time Conservative leader Drew said Parliament must take a more active role in speeding the plan if Ottawa is to become an "appropriate showplace" of Canada.

However, Senator Haig said he does not know "why we, with a population of 15,000,000, continue with these extravagent ideas, aping the U.S., with a population of 165,000,000 people."

"Why should we depend upon them, the U.S., for our protection, and spend money crazily to meet the opposition? Before we come forward with a scheme like this, I think the questions of unemployment and health insurance require our first consideration."

Williams' Case Query Blocked

Speaker Rene Beaudoin Thursday blocked—temporarily at least—an opposition member's attempt to question Prime Minister St. Laurent on "the Williams case."

John Diefenbaker (PC, Prince Albert), one of Canada's leading criminal lawyers, tried to ask Mr. St. Laurent — himself a corporation lawyer—whether he is prepared to look into the case of Clifford Williams.

Williams was sentenced in Montreal April 6, 1951, to 28 years in prison after pleading guilty to a series of armed robberies. It was his first conviction. He was then 20.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked whether Mr. St. Laurent is prepared to investigate the matter to see whether an injustice—"and that seems apparent" — had been done.

Mr. St. Laurent either leaned forward to listen more closely or was starting to rise to reply when Mr. Beaudoin intervened. He ruled Mr. Diefenbaker's question out of order.

Mr. Beaudoin said the purpose of the question period is to ask for information, not to give it. However, Mr. Diefenbaker was suggesting action.

The Canadian National Railways is budgeting for a $2,600,000 surplus for 1956 after reporting a $10,717,000 profit last year.

Transport Minister Marler, who tabled the publicly-owned company's budget, said Thursday the paper surplus does not take into account any pay increases that might be obtained by employees now seeking contract concessions.

The company estimated, in its annual report made public Wednesday that these demands could amount to $94,000,000 a year if obtained fully by non-operating unions and extended to other employees.

In its budget, the CNR forecast its 1956 operating income as $685,000,000, up slightly from $683,088,000 in 1955.

A former Liberal cabinet minister Thursday doubted the defence department requires one civilian employee for every 2½ service personnel.

"The proportion of civil servants in the department of defence seems to be very large," Senator William D. Euler, minister of trade in 1935, told the Senate finance committee.

He made the comment after J. J. Deutsch, an assistant deputy finance minister, said the department has 50,000 civilian employees.

The strength of the armed forces at the end of 1955 was 116,715.

The department, Mr. Deutsch said, employs a large number of civilians because this is cheaper than providing service personnel. A similar policy was followed by the United States and the United Kingdom.

India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru probably will visit Canada when he comes to this continent to visit the United States, External Affairs Minister Pearson said Thursday.

"When I was in Delhi," Pearson said referring to his world tour last fall, "I gave Mr. Nehru a very warm invitation on behalf of the government to include Canada in any visit he would be making to the United States.

"Mr. Nehru said then he hoped to visit Canada before long, but he was unable to give any definite reply at that time."

COCKNEY GUIDES 40 REDS IN BLUE COATS

Grinning Georgi Gapes, Wows London Shop Girls

LONDON (UP) — Grinning Georgi Malenkov paused on a midtown sidewalk today to wave his hat like a movie star at gasping awe-struck shopgirls.

The former Soviet premier made his gallant gesture as he launched his tour of England under a British veil of secrecy and security that was decried by both the communist and free press.

He stepped from the big black limousine that drove him from the Soviet embassy to the central electricity authority building near the Oxford Circus.

GALLANT GESTURE

A gathering mass of shopgirls and passersby gasped a chorus of "oohs." Malenkov, smiling broadly, acknowledged the greeting with a two-way sweep of his grey, snap-brim trilby.

On the trip through London's streets he craned in the car to see the western sights beyond the iron escort of police outriders.

He peered with interest at the red-brick American embassy, floating the Stars and Stripes, when his limousine rounded Grosvenor Square.

He leaned and pointed at Broadcasting House, citadel of the BBC, and at the glittering shop windows of Regent Street, London's leading shopping centre.

Behind him, in a 39-seat bus, rode Malenkov's entourage of other Russians, all attired in dark blue ankle-length overcoats.

They were delighted to discover the bus driver was a Cockney. They beat the startled little man on the back with shouts of "bravo."

JOVIAL TOUR

When Malenkov and his delegates walked into the centrally-heated electricity authority building to be greeted by Chairman Lord Citrine, some of the overcoated Russians appeared to be too warm. But it was a jovial tour.

Malenkov insisted on stopping and shaking hands with everybody he met in the building.

Scotland Yard maintained extreme security safeguards and allowed only a handful of carefully-checked reporters to go along with the roving Russian.

The Daily Telegraph remarked acidly that Malenkov was "cocooned in such secrecy that it was difficult to discover anything about his movements from any source."

The Daily Mirror's Cassandra, noting that political assassination is almost non-existent in England, said Malenkov was being guarded "like a robin's egg locked up for the night in a triple-bolted steel safe.

"That's no way to treat a humble electrician who has come all the way from Moscow to inspect our fuses and read the British meter," he wrote.

It was on the authority's invitation that Malenkov came here as Soviet minister of electric power stations to view British power plants. He will see his first power plant Saturday.

QUOTES BOBBIE BURNS

He smiled almost constantly. At the Russian embassy, he patted little children on the head. When he went to a hotel to discuss his tour, he and an Englishman traded quotations on Scottish poet Robert Burns.

His host, Lord Citrine, chairman of the central electric authority, was "extremely impressed."

"I was very surprised indeed at his deep grasp of English cultural life. He evidently made quite a study of it."

The Law's Delay

THE LIBEL AND SLANDER suit pending between Mr. Sommers and Mr. Sturdy is not an ordinary case, involving merely the honor of individuals. It involves the integrity of British Columbia's Government.

The public, therefore, will be shocked to hear that the trial of this case is not likely to take place before June, or even later. At the Vancouver court house it is said that the courts are too busy to try the case until the eve of their summer vacation and may not get around to it until autumn, or perhaps some time next year.

This report is incredible. We may be sure that if the litigants are ready to go ahead with the suit at any time the courts will arrange to try it without a moment's delay.

The trial calendar is not fixed by some minor official and by rule of thumb. It is fixed by the chief justice of the court involved—in this case by Chief Justice Sherwood Lett, of the Supreme Court. We cannot believe that the Chief Justice would fail to rearrange his court's business, if necessary, to assure a prompt trial of such a vital case.

No one will suggest that Mr. Sommers or Mr. Sturdy should be hurried into court before they are thoroughly prepared. Everyone will realize that in a case so important to both—and to the public—those preparations must take some time. But it is absurd to suppose that these gentlemen cannot be ready within a matter of weeks, or a few months at most.

So long as this case remains untried not only the litigants but the Government are under a cloud and the public has no means of knowing exactly what is under way, since the press is forbidden by law to reveal the details of the case in advance of trial.

This situation is highly unsatisfactory. Prolonged unnecessarily, it would become intolerable.

The Cost of Parity

AT THE MOMENT WHEN "parity" prices are making the farm problem of the United States almost unmanageable the Conservative Party proposes to establish the same sort of system in Canada.

Now that the three opposition parties in Parliament are committed to parity prices we shall doubtless hear much more of this proposal before the national election of 1957.

When the state agrees to maintain parity prices for farm products it must be prepared to pay subsidies to the farmers, out of the pockets of the taxpayers. In the United States parity is a complicated calculation by which farm prices are related to the price of manufactured goods. In theory, a farmer's bushel of wheat, for example, should earn him as much on the market as it would have earned years ago, when the price of manufactured goods was much lower than it is now.

If the market price of that wheat is below the figure thus fixed, the Government buys the farmer's product, sells it at the market price (or dumps it abroad) and pays the loss.

Since the state cannot always sell the foodstuffs thus accumulated, the American Government today has on its hands some eight billion dollars' worth of cereals, cotton, butter and other products. It has felt compelled to unload part of this accumulation at fire sale prices, or for nothing, in foreign countries, thus demoralizing the world market and damaging such exporters as Canada.

So far the Canadian Government has refused to involve itself in such a costly process. The United States can afford to keep its farm industry on a permanent subsidy, whether this system is sound or not. Any comparable cost is beyond the means of the Canadian treasury.

But it is this incalculable cost—and any resulting farm surpluses—that the three opposition parties ask our treasury to assume.

The voters will have the chance, probably next year, to express their opinion on this issue. Meanwhile the political calculations behind it are perfectly clear — the Conservative Party, like the Democrats in the American election campaign, are making a desperate bid for the farm vote.

The Government refuses to play this game. It is determined to protect the taxpayer from immeasurable costs and agriculture from the kind of situation prevailing in the United States. A majority of Parliament supporting the Government has wisely voted down parity prices. Now the Conservative party can carry the issue to the electorate.

A Russian Dividend

THE PARAMOUNT OBJECTIVE of Russian policy in the Near East is not so much to gain influence there as to split the allies of the free world. In the last few days Russia's investment in this strategic area has paid a handsome dividend. Nothing could gratify the Communist leaders more than the spectacle of a public controversy between Britain and the United States on the issue of Cyprus.

It is not clear yet why the American ambassador to Athens expressed official sympathy with the Greek Government after Britain had banished certain agitators in Cyprus. Perhaps this was only a routine blunder by some officials in the state department. Mr. Dulles was absent from Washington at the time and presumably cannot be blamed for a piece of gaucherie which Mr. Eisenhower seems to regret.

At any rate, the President took the first opportunity to declare the United States' neutrality in the controversy between Britain and Greece. This, apparently, is a sort of apology for the affront to Britain.

It did not satisfy British leaders on either side of Parliament when the Cyprus question was debated this week. Both Mr. Eden and Mr. Bevan, disagreeing on everything else, indicated their resentment against American interference.

The unhappy contremps no doubt will soon be forgotten. But the position taken by Mr. Eisenhower is far from satisfactory, as Mr. Eden's speech clearly indicates.

The British Government may have erred seriously in exiling Archbishop Makarios, angering his followers in Cyprus and his friends in Greece and thus making further negotiations difficult, if not impossible.

The fact remains, however, that the strategy of the free world requires a base in Cyprus and the United States is as much concerned as Britain in that strategy. The presence of a large American fleet in the Mediterranean is proof enough of the United States' vital interest. In the pinch, therefore, the United States cannot be neutral on such a question.

Presumably the President, behind the rather vague remarks of his press conference, is working to repair the damage done by his ambassador to Athens and to bring Britain and Greece together. Even more important, and dangerous, is the situation in Asia Minor where the United States' attitude is likely to prove decisive in preventing, or failing to prevent wars.

However things work out in Cyprus or on the Near East mainland, the paramount policy of the great Western nations must be to maintain their alliance, as the paramount policy of Russia is to break it. For if the alliance is weakened there will be no force strong enough to deter Russia's advance.

Clean Up the Cassiar Road Deal

IN THIS FEVERED RUSH OF last session's closing hours, newly appointed Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan was unable to define the exact position of the Government on the extension of the Cassiar-Stewart Road.

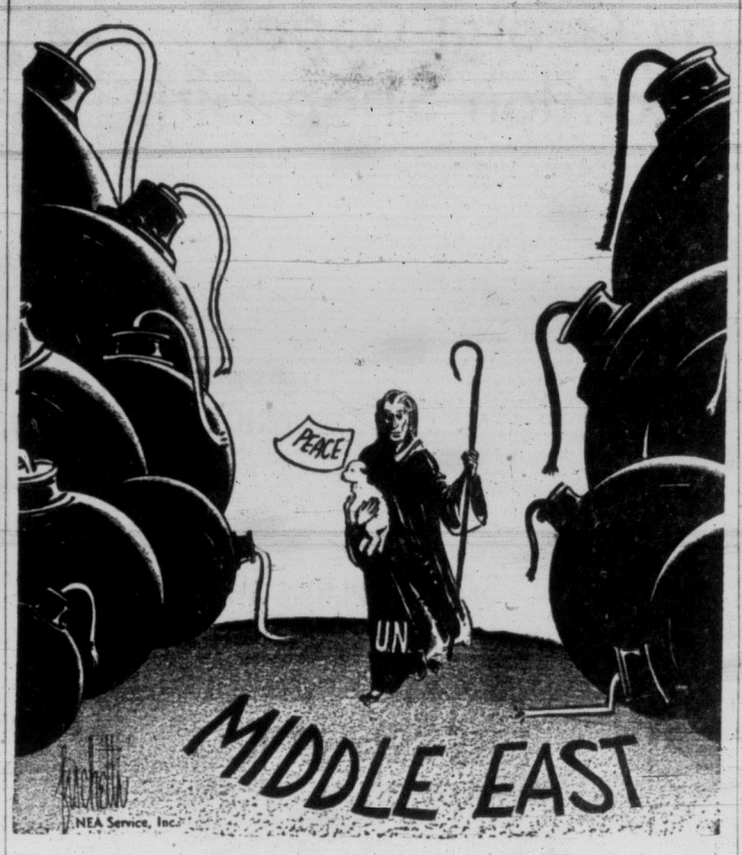
He did give the assurance that any work to be done would be done by contract after tenders were called. He could not announce the status of Wade and Wells, old friends of former Mines Minister Robert Sommers, whose recent work on the road was the subject of an unfinished committee inquiry. That, he said, was a question of law.

Since the session, tenders have been called for extension of the Cassiar-Stewart road. At the same time Mr. Norman Wells, of Wade and Wells, says his firm's contract calls for the building of another 18 miles of the stretch.

Apparently the legal question of which Mr. Kiernan spoke has yet to be settled. It should be settled at once. This is a mining access road. The vote for this year's work, $1.5 million, may be relatively small in comparison to the huge highway budget, but it is still a very large sum of the taxpayers' money. Public confidence in the project has been severely shaken by the investigation conducted by the committee—incomplete as it was.

Before such a sum, or even part of it, is spent, the public—the people who pay the bill—should have definite assurance from the Government that no legal entanglements are left hanging over from previous arrangements in which British Columbians can have little, if any, confidence.

Tender Shepherd



Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I HAVE before me a catalogue of Nautical Gifts. The catalogue and the gifts are obtainable from Captain O. M. Watts Ltd., 49 Albemarle Street, London, W1, England. I should think there'd be a big market for nautical gifts in this nautical town, where every second man is either an old salt or a young salt, and where, as the old song says, "every nice girl loves a sailor."

Brock

In any event, the catalogue contains some stimulating suggestions. For example, you can get a brooch made up with colored signal flags on it. Any letters you want, in any hoist from 3 to 8 flags. You could spell out your name or hers, within the limits of 8 letters, or just the initials. But it might be great fun to wear a signal from the International Code. I am not very good at wearing brooches myself, but I'd like to wear one saying JDN, which means "Does it matter?" A good question at all times. More loyally, I could wear one saying JDA ARAO, which means "There is nothing the matter with Victoria." Or possibly AQUM MSS, which means "Vancouver is running down" and is probably true in several senses.

I AM not so sure about buying a pair of sidelight cuff links. The left-hand link is a red port sidelight and the other a green starboard sidelight, and people might think, if I wore them, that it was the only way I could tell left from right. Nor would I encourage a young lady to wear port and starboard earrings, also in the shape of little lanterns. She might feel most people could tell which way she was facing without the need for port and starboard lights. This port and starboard business can be pushed too far. Imagine how cross a tourist would be if you gave him a red fork, for his port hand, and then he held it in his starboard hand to cut his meat with. If you did that, John Fisher and the Tourist Association would come out in favor of hanging.

All the same, a man wearing sidelights at his wrists and a woman wearing sidelights slung from the lobes of her ears . . . they could have a lot of fun quoting suitable ditties to each other about the rules of the road at sea. It may not sound like much or lasting fun to you, but that is because romance is dead in you. Sometimes small-talk springs from romance, and sometimes romance springs from small-talk, but whichever the order of these things, the fact remains that romance requires good supplies of piffle as well as unlimited slush.

WHAT may sound like very idle chatter to you is brilliant conversation to an admiring couple whose critical faculties are blunted by an emotion that itself is not any too critical either. Their standards are low. They have to be, to avoid race suicide. It is part of what Wordsworth called Nature's Mighty Plan, though he wasn't talking about what we're talking about . . . he preferred to forget that angle, after abandoning Annette and her baby in France. He considered Annette as great a disappointment as the French Revolution in which he met her.

Uncritical

And as a much lesser though more sensible poet said:

"Irrational women!" I sighed when a lover . . .
It seemed such a pity: so pretty and active
Yet quite undiscerning. But now I discover
They have to be silly, to find men attractive.

That isn't very magical poetry, but it is worth bearing in mind. If more men remembered it, this would be a happier world. Incidentally, it is technically a breach of copyright for me to print it here, though I wrote it myself.

THE magazine to which I sold it long ago has the peculiar habit of buying the copyright outright and for ever. But one dirty trick deserves another. You can believe it or not, but it is strictly true that when (very occasionally) a little item of mine has been taken from that magazine for some bound volume or other, I have not once received a single penny, or a copy of the volume, or even a postcard telling me about the transaction. So that when people tell me, now and then, that they saw my Thing in such-and-such a book, and I say I don't know what they mean, they think me a liar.

Square-Dancing

Yes, but about boy-meets-girl, both with sidelights. Quoting the Manual of Seamanship, he could say (for example):

Both in safety and in doubt,
Always keep a good look-out.
In danger with no room to turn,
Ease her, stop her, go astern.

And she could reply:

If to your starboard red appear
It is your duty to keep clear;
To act as judgment says is proper,
To port or starboard, back or stop her.

But when upon your port is seen
A lady's starboard light of green,
There's not so much for you to do,
For green to port keeps clear of you.

And so on. "Green to green or red to red, perfect safety, go ahead." —And "when both lights you see ahead, starboard wheel and show your red." I should think that in square-dancing, too, these sidelights and these rhymes would be perfectly invaluable. In so far as value can be said to attach to square-dancing.

TALKING of romantic topics, in his recent (last year) Clark lectures at Cambridge, Robert Graves said that at last he'd heard a good answer to the saying that there's no money in poetry. A pal of his replied "Yes, and there's no poetry in money."

DENNIS THE MENACE

From Our Files

March 16, 1896: The dry weather has brought the usual harvest of roof fires. Two nights ago the department was called to a blaze on the roof of the Teutonia saloon and this morning to the Taylor mill.

March 16, 1916: Ottawa—Official figures show 263,103 men have enlisted in the Canadian army since war broke out. B. C. ranks fourth with 24,868. Toronto totals 60,360, Winnipeg 50,710, Calgary over 24,000.

March 16, 1936: Fourteen active cases of rubella (German measles) are now isolated in the city and every care is being taken to prevent any widespread outbreak of this minor ailment, the medical health officer stated.

As Our Readers See It

Costly Ignorance

It does not appear to be sufficiently known that under the B.C. Hospitals Services Act its service is given in outside clinics to people who have sustained injury from an accident for a charge of $2.00 which covers X-ray and other costs, provided a doctor sends a patient for examination and treatment within 24 hours of the time of the accident.

A friend told me this today. Not knowing this after a fall breaking her ankle (which she thought was sprained) it was five days before she called her doctor. She had been treated at the clinic and because of the delay has to pay full costs of X-ray and everything.

That Demon Tea

The Times in March 12 issue devoted a large part of a page to the subject of "Tea for Canada Week" and we suppose the idea of those that wrote about this was to promote the use of this beverage in Canada.

Among some of the benefits claimed for tea drinking were, that it exhilarates, causes clearness of thought and ideas and increases the capacity for prolonged mental and physical effort. Also it is claimed that its use, even for children, is now fully justified by modern medical science.

As to whether these things are so it remains for each one to decide for himself. For example one cup of tea as ordinarily prepared contains one to two grains of caffeine, an active damaging stimulant, and the drinking of two or three cups would contain more than a full medical dose. Tannic acid which is also found in tea hinders digestion. Tea acts as a stimulant and to a certain extent produces intoxication. The first effect is stimulating. The nerves of the stomach are excited and convey irritation to the brain, the heart is stimulated, and short-lived energy to the entire system results. Fatigue is forgotten and the strength seems to be increased. But the system has received no nourishment and what seems to be strength is only nervous excitement.

Tea drinking becomes a habit which is hard to break and leads to nerve trouble, insomnia, and diseases of the heart, indigestion, and high blood pressure so prevalent today. When we are tired nature calls for rest but instead tea is drunk and stimulates one to go on and the system becomes debilitated.

Any who have been steady tea drinkers can certify these statements in their own experience and in the lives of others around us.

Remembering Mozart

The world is now celebrating the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of Mozart. Every day his great music beams forth from a million radios, while celebrities in all lands do honor to his memory. Yet it was a pauper's grave that closed over the body of Mozart—coffin piled on coffin, and no one marked the spot.

All we know is that somewhere in Saint Mark's Cemetery, Vienna, was buried in a trench the most accomplished composer and performer the world has ever known. His best monument is his work. The melody that once filled his soul is ours; for by his art he made us heirs to all that wealth of love that was never requited, and the dream that for him never came true: these are our precious and priceless legacy.

Not all the music we hear these days is so graciously conceived; much of it falls on the ears like a blast from Hades, as though the trombones and percussion instruments were deliberately and resolutely aiming at dissonnance. Only recently, in one of our symphony concerts, and I refer in particular to the Sibelius program, the noise was so terrific as to be injurious to the ears. I trust that before this glorious Mozart celebration is over, that our symphony directors will take fresh stock, and look for themselves into the vast field of music which has a national and spiritual appeal to the most enthusiastic symphony supporters.

As a companion I would choose Mozart rather than any other musician who ever played or composed, excepting well, say Brahms.

Mr. Bennett: No Comment

(Vancouver Province)

LAST WEEK Premier Bennett went off to Ottawa, breathing fire about Prime Minister St. Laurents tax-agreement offer—and having done and said nothing about the Sommers affairs.

This week he is back home, scattering roses (although why is not quite clear: the Prime Minister insists he made no concessions to the Premier)—and still all he has to say about the Sommers affair is a terse "No comment."

* * *

It would seem that Mr. Bennett considers the affair nothing but a party political issue no more than a fuss stirred up by the Opposition.

Certainly it is a political issue—any opposition party would be remiss in its duty if it did not make the most of a reflection on the conduct of a government.

But it is also a great deal more than a political issue.

It remains a matter of profound public concern.

It involves a reflection on the integrity of government as represented by a department controlling the disposition of the forest and mineral resources which it is its duty to hold in trust for generations to come.

In the nearly three months since the affair brewed up as a result of statements by lawyer David A. Sturdy at a sitting of the Sloan Commission and of Mr. Sommers' slander action against him, there have been continual demands for a judicial enquiry.

In the more than two weeks since Mr. Sommers resigned his ministry, hurling charges of a "deliberate campaign of destruction" by "desperate fragments of the Liberals," certain forest interests and a Victoria newspaper publisher, these demands have been intensified.

* * *

Some of these demands have come from the Opposition—as they rightly should. But not all. They have been made unanimously by the newspapers of British Columbia and by a great many members of the public.

It is hard to understand Mr. Bennett's persistence in ignoring them.

He may think that there is no ground for an enquiry.

But at least he owes it to the people of British Columbia to explain why.

In Disunity Is...

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

IN North Africa and the Middle East, from Morocco to the Persian Gulf, the three Western nations are under attack in all their key positions of power and influence.

They are beset by guerrilla warfare, as in Algeria, by rebellion as in Cyprus, by a threat of war as in Palestine, by infiltration and subversion as in Jordan, Syria, and the Persian Gulf protectorates. Amidst the mounting disorder and confusion there is being posed the crucial question of whether these local but connected conflicts are still negotiable by concessions and compromise, by the use of statesmanship and diplomacy.

Lippmann

There is a growing doubt as to whether it is still possible to achieve agreed settlements, whether on the contrary there is an historic revolutionary tie which will allow no peace until in this area the power of France, Great Britain and the United States has been broken.

The question is whether the Arab rulers and politicians, their officers and intellectuals, will settle for anything short of the expulsion of France from North Africa, Britain from the Eastern Mediterranean and the Persian Gulf, the extinction of Israel as an independent state, and the reduction of the United States to the position of a hired servant of the Saudi-Arabian oil kingdom. In London, Paris and Washington the governments are still trying desperately not to despair of settlements by negotiation. But they are being forced to ask themselves whether any settlement is anything more than the taking-off point for new demands, whether any appeasement will in fact appease.

Divided Approach

At this point, with the Westerners still bound to seek settlement by negotiation, they find themselves treating the local struggles separately. Morocco, Algeria and Tunis are held to be French problems. Cyprus, Jordan, and the Persian Gulf protectorates are British problems. Palestine and Saudi-Arabia are held to be primarily American problems.

The Westerners are treating as a series of localized issues and by separate actions what is a wide and generalized movement against them collectively. This general movement has its centre in Egypt and derives its critical power from the backing of the Soviet Union. The Kremlin is not only arming Europe. It is interposing its own power to frustrate resistance and opposition to Egypt. Yet the Allied diplomacy, in its attempts to negotiate, is dealing almost entirely with local leaders.

The prospect of achieving pacification by a series of local settlements are very dim indeed. The basic issues are not really local, or even regional. They are world-wide, involving all the great powers. Even when local chieftains and leaders are disposed, as they are now and then, to strike a bargain, they are prevented from settling by the pressure of the general anti-Western movement.

Local settlements are, moreover, inordinately difficult because there are in most of these old protectorates local vested interests which are uncompromising. This has beeen most manifest in French North Africa. But there is a similar condition elsewhere. This damages deeply the Western cause. Thus the Westerners do not concede enough to win the good opinion of the uncommitted nations.

Collective Negotiations

The question which must now come to everyone's mind is whether an attempt might and should be made to negotiate collectively at a higher level—with the real leaders of the Arab movement and with the Kremlin. As a series of local conflicts the situation is disintegrating, and it could readily become one of such massive revolutionary violence that not only the Western powers but the local Arab rulers would be overwhelmed by it.

The Western policy has been to deal with the Middle East as if the Soviet Union were not present in the region, were not already in fact a principal power. This enables the Soviet Union to operate without being called to account, and things have been going steadily against the West, from bad to worse.

WORLD IN MINIATURE

The world of toys is a faithful reflection in miniature of the world about us. The thousands of things we see and use in our everyday lives are reproduced on a small scale to make toys for our children. Toymakers know that children in play are largely imitative; little girls like to play with miniature copies of the tools and utensils they see their mothers using around the home, while their brothers will want toys of wider and more manly interests. Toymakers know too that this almost slavish mimicry of the adult world shows that children are realists—at least in Britain. This probably accounts for the fact that the toy tractor outsells the space-suit every time.

—S. H. Gordon-Box, speaking about the expansion of the toy industry in Britain.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Ignorance, But Not Bliss

I'VE been reading news stories from the Middle East and trying to figure what type of people live there. I can't. I've met only one Arab, and she was a propogandist for the League, so I'm disinclined to base my estimate of her people on that one sample.

Stott

And like thousands of others who have had upbringings and reading habits like my own, I figure I'm more ignorant of Arabs as a race than if I'd never read a line.

From school days on the Arabs have been figures in stories to me. Apart from a book by Mr. Justice W. O. Douglas, which seemed pretty authentic, virtually all my reading has glamorized the peoples of the desert.

A kid in this country starts off with the Thousand and One Nights (expurgated edition) and learns about sheiks, caliphs, and the like from it. Then he moves out to the Walter Scott age and develops a wondering and wonderous picture of the Saracen on his magnificent steed.

After that he turns to the unreality of P. C. Wren and assimilates an impression of the Arab as a cunning, cruel, but honorable figure.

Maybe, in adolescence, he leafs through a few relevant pages in Gibbon and picks up a highly inadequate impression of Mohammedans and their religion.

CLOUDY LIKE A SANDSTORM

But somehow the whole tableau seems to become clouded in the rising sands of charging tribesmen chanting something like Allah, il Allah akbar and waving Damascene blades.

If he was old enough, he probably saw the Desert Song in its stage form. From that he probably derived the idea that the Arab—if they're still Arabs when they live on the westerly side of the Sahara, were right and just kicking against colonialism.

And if his concept wasn't confused enough then he could—again if he were old enough—think of Rudolph Valentino and see the Arab as a bad advertisement for heavy hair oil.

Any way you look at it, the westerner seems to be in a pretty poor position to judge the race, or the faith, or whatever the category may be.

In the customary simplicity of the western mind he wants to divide peoples into the good guys and the bad guys, as the cowboy stories define them for him. (The bad guys are the ones who keep their hats on, a young TV fan tells me.)

Not all people are so ill-informed, of course. Some of my friends have sons-in-law or cousins who worked for Anglo-Persian Oil and they at least know that you pronounce sheiks "shakes." And that, I suppose, makes them something of authorities.

WHAT DOES HE WANT?

Then, too, pretty well everyone has read of "Weeping Mossadegh" who held the news spotlight for so long a year or two ago. But that still leaves you wondering what kind of people the Arabs are, what they want out of life, and if they have the sensitivity of soul required to appreciate chromium plumbing and other spiritual refinements of our civilization.

Perhaps they have. A friend of mine who attended the San Francisco birth of the United Nations told me a story that supports that idea. At the meeting, he said, three Arabs swept in their burnooses past a crowd of sidewalk gawkers and caught the enraptured eye of a female romantic. Three-parts gone in a swoon she turned to a friend and said: "Gee, Sadie, ain't they dashing." At which one of the Arabs turned to add: "Yes, lady, and all them oil millions, too."

In a more comfortable day the Arab was merely a character in a storybook, or, in more material form, a person who lived way over there—half a world away.

He still lives in the same place, but half a world away could be annoyingly close, if he's holding a lighted match near the fuse of a bomb that could blow up this planet.

I wish I knew him better. Thinking of the tales Scheherazade used to spin, I can't help worrying lest he pull the stopper out of the bottle with that jinnee in it.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Start Garden Plan On Boundary Lines

Where to begin in the garden is a problem to many new home owners, especially when the garden is a rectangular, more or less flat area.

If there are no shrubs or trees, and no natural features such as sloping ground or rocks, I would suggest starting on the boundary lines.

Hilda

Whether fenced or not, a group or two of carefully chosen shrubs will add an immediate touch of permanence. They may be evergreen, either coniferous or broad-leaved, or deciduous.

Having prepared the planting holes by removing all grass and weed roots, the shrubs may be planted at once.

The next step might well be the marking out of an area in full sun for the vegetable and fruit garden. Here again the boundaries may be marked by plantings of fruits, such as black currants, raspberries and espaliered dwarf fruit trees. These may also be planted now.

Unless the owner has been able to draw up even a rough idea of what is desired in the garden plan for the future, it is often best to put in wide beds of annual and perennial flowers for two or three years. The cultivation of these will get the soil into condition for more permanent work later on. The annuals will need to be renewed each year, while the perennials may be dug at the end of the probation period and their divisions replanted into permanent positions.

1956 Licence Lack Brings Fines For Four Drivers

Four motorists were fined in Saanich police court Thursday on charges of failing to display 1956 licence plates on their vehicles March 1.

Senley G. O'Dell, 3060 Harriett, was fined $25 or five days in jail. He told court he was driving his car less than two blocks to a used car lot when apprehended by police.

Gloria G. Barry, 485 Boleskine; Arthur E. Evans, 1637 Hollywood, and Edwin John Pitts, 706 Kings, were each fined $10.

They admitted driving without the plates displayed, but each said the new licence plates had been purchased and were in their cars at the time they were stopped by police.

Tremor of the Hands

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Foundation

Many persons ask me why they have a "shaking palsy," or tremor of a hand, and what they can do to cure it. In many cases I suspect the cause was what I call a little stroke: The plugging-up by a blood clot of a little artery in the brain. The amount of brain destroyed was so small that there was no change in speech, and no paralysis. Often there is some loss of memory and ability to work, and perhaps a change in character for the worse. The person may get irritable and irascible and hard to live with.

Dr. Alvarez

Commonly, tremor in one or both hands goes with the so-called Parkinson's syndrome, in which the person loses expression in his face and becomes slowed-up. He may walk slowly—bent over, with his hands close to his sides. In cases of younger persons, the disease often follows an attack of brain fever or encephalitis, while in the cases of older persons, it follows a little or a big stroke. Physicians speak of the tremor of Parkinson's disease as a pill-rolling movement, because the thumb and the first finger move together, as if they were rolling something. There is another type of tremor, often in one hand, which is familial and inherited.

Unfortunately, there is no perfect drug for the relief of such tremors. There are a number which can be tried out in cases of Parkinson's disease, and if the patient is fortunate, one of them may give him some relief. It may cut down on the tremor or it may relieve the stiffness in the muscles: They will not feel quite so full of glue.

Of late, a few neurologists have been working on a type of operation on the brain or an injection of a drug into the brain which, they hope, will stop the tremor. Some success has been obtained, but only in the cases of younger persons whose trouble followed an attack of encephalitis. The surgeons doing this work soon quit operating on the older men.

* * *

I recently read a remarkable article on the hereditary type of tremor, written by Drs. E. V. Jager of Salt Lake City and Thomas King, of New York City. They tell of the descendants of a ship captain who, in 1860, went to Utah. He had a severe hand tremor during the last 20 years of his life. The doctors have succeeded in tracing 82 members of four generations of this family. Twenty-four of these people have been examined by the two doctors, and 19 of them have been found to have some tremor. Only four were obviously shaking, but when all were examined closely, 15 more were found to have the tremor in a mild form.

This observation interested me greatly because it fits perfectly with what the geneticists have been finding in the cases of other hereditary diseases. So often the parents of a child who goes insane, or gets epilepsy or diabetes, or high blood pressure, or a severe anemia, or a tendency to bleed terribly, will say to their physician, "But this cannot be hereditary because neither of us and not one of the four grandparents ever had this disease." But time and again they are wrong. A close study of the family will soon turn up an uncle who is a bad alcoholic, or an aunt who had unrecognized "petit mal," (or minor epilepsy in her youth,) or the mother with an unrecognized mild diabetes, or the father with a "submerged hypertension" or a brother with a few of the blood changes that go with a hereditary type of anemia or bleeding. What the public must learn some day is that the world is full of carriers of disease: Persons who have inherited so little of a family trouble that only an expert, perhaps with special tests, can show clearly that they have it in a mild form.

* * *

If a carrier marries a spouse who is not a carrier, their children may either go free; or one or two may be carriers; but if two persons who are carriers of the same or related diseases marry, some of their children may develop serious trouble.

This explains why, in some cases, the marriage of cousins, who were not carriers, results in half-a-dozen wonderfully healthy and normal children. It is when the two cousins are carriers of the same disease that disaster can come to their children.

There is another difficulty in studying hereditary diseases and this is that many of them do not show up until after middle life. Let us say that I am studying the inheritance of diabetes and the diabetic in my office says that he had three brothers and sisters who died before they were 30, apparently without diabetes. The question is: If they had lived until they were 60, how many would have had diabetes? Also, my patient has six children, all under 20. How many of them are going to have diabetes? Perhaps I can tell by making certain tests and seeing how the children can now handle an overdose of sugar.

In the next 50 years we physicians are going to learn to recognize many carriers of several diseases by studying certain "relatives" with special care. The recognition of carriers is going to be one of the next big steps in medicine.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Fairly active trade in barley dominated trade on the Winnipeg grain exchange. Shippers and exporters were buyers and there were reports of small overseas sales of barley to the United Kingdom.

Barley prices were firm to higher while oats moved narrowly on domestic trade. Rye attracted some overseas demand and there were reports of parcel lot sales to the Continent.

A few shipping orders appeared in flax but commission houses were sellers and prices eased.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged.

CHICAGO (AP) — In another mixed market corn held firm while soybeans eased on the board of trade today.

Wheat advanced with corn at one time, losing ground later. Old crop wheat futures dipped under the previous close. Oats suffered from mild selling pressure, particularly the March contract.

Firmness in the cash market was the main prop under corn.

Wheat closed ¾-⅝ higher, March 2.23¾-⅞; corn unchanged to ¾ higher, March 1.33⅝-¼; oats unchanged to ⅞ lower, March 61¼-½; rye ¾-1¼ lower, March 1.29¾-½, and soybeans ¾-3¼ lower, March 2.57-2.57¼.

Cash wheat: None; corn, No. 3 yellow, 1.30½; oats, No. 1 extra heavy white, 67½-68; barley, nominal, malting choice 1.30-40, feed 85-99.

B.C. Forest Fire Loss Five Times U.S. Rate?

Forest fire loss in acres in the B.C. interior during 1949-53 was five times greater than a comparable forest area in the U.S. northwest, the Sloan commission was told here Thursday.

J. A. K. Reid, B.C. Forest Service assistant forester said this was "obviously the result of lack of sufficient staff and facilities by the B.C. Forest Service to handle the peak fire control load."

He made these comparisons:

Full-time ranger district personnel on the U.S. side totalled 148. The Canadian region had 22 permanent staff members.

Average number of temporary personnel available during summer months was 400 south of the border, only 27 in the Canadian region.

Minister of Labor Opens New Tech Unit

NANAIMO — Latest addition to Nanaimo's dominion-provincial vocational training school was opened with special ceremonies Thursday before cabinet ministers and provincial and federal guests.

Jack White, provincial director of technical and vocational education, acted as master of ceremonies. Labor Minister Lyle Wicks, in opening the new quarters and dormitory, referred to the new pipe welding division of the school as a "rapid step in the development of the province."

"Necessity for the school," said the minister, "came about by reason of the trans-mountain pipeline project, and there is at least 12 to 15 years of specialized work in British Columbia still ahead of us."

Other officials present at the ceremony were H. L. Campbell, deputy education minister; Herbert Bruch, Esquimalt MLA; Dr. Larry Giovando, Nanaimo MLA; E. D. Allan, director of apprenticeship, labor department; J. H. Dalgleish, supervisor of technical and adult education, Victoria School District 61; Col. J. Neish, National Employment Service, Victoria, and Jack McReadie, director of the school.

CHEMAINUS — North Cowichan council has renewed its contract with Charles Douglas for the collection of Chemainus garbage.

The municipality will pay Mr. Douglas $30 a month to collect and dispose of Chemainus garbage and maintain the dump.

STRANGE PLANT — The sponge-like plant which stewardess Pauline Loo holds in this Canadian Pacific Airlines photo is a marimo plant from northern Japan. Six of the plants were flown to Vancouver for the city's new aquarium. The marimos, which live in the sea and bob to the surface for air, were for a time considered by Vancouver officials as a pest. But a Japanese expert said it is difficult to propagate marimo.

$150,000 Skating Rink Proposed for Chemainus

CHEMAINUS — The Chemainus Rotary Club will circulate a petition throughout Chemainus and district, asking ratepayers if they are in favor of building a modern skating rink in Chemainus.

Club project chairman Harold Jacques reported that his committee had met and discussed the proposed rink with an architect, and had full particulars on the design, building and financing of the project. Cost would be approximately $150,000 he said. He felt certain the average ratepayer would not mind paying "a few dollars more a year in taxes" to finance the rink.

Member Jack McKinnon wondered if such a rink was feasible for Chemainus.

"Nanaimo goes into the red every year. I can't see us supporting a rink," he said. Tom Beggs was in favor of building a rink, saying "every Saturday night I pick up kids hitch-hiking out of town. Let's build a rink and keep them here."

Bob Bennie warned that the Nanaimo arena made more money out of lacrosse than it did out of hockey and skating. Original plan was to build a small, quonset-style rink for the youngsters, said Jim Gordon.

"I think the present plan is too big," he said.

If ratepayers in Chemainus favor building a modern skating rink, the Rotary Club will ask North Cowichan council to put a bylaw to finance its construction.

Troops on 'Exercise Fireball' To Face Battlefield Conditions

Battlefield conditions are expected to be encountered during a demonstration of modern infantry tactics in "Exercise Fireball" south of East Saanich Indian Reserve next weekend.

Led by 160 men of Second Battalion Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, a total of 200 troops, about 20 vehicles and four Sherman tanks will churn over farm lands straddling Telegraph Road in an exercise observed by 100 senior staff officers of 24 and 25 Militia Groups.

The two-day scheme slated for March 24 and 25 will start under direction of B.C. Area commander Brig. George Kitching with a cloth model exercise on the 24th.

"A-BLAST"

Next morning, men of 3 Field Squadron, Royal Canadian Engineers, will stage a mock atomic bomb burst on the beach near the end of Telegraph Road, using flame thrower fuel, heavy oils and high explosive.

No arrangements for the public to witness this or any other phase of the operation have been made by the army, but the familiar mushroom explosion should be visible from a distance.

Remainder of the scheme will take place on low-lying ground about a half-mile square on the afternoon of March 25. Staff officers will follow it by means of observation and diagramatic lay-out.

Infantry troops will be positioned in five defended areas, the first four mechanized platoons of QOR's and the fifth a detachment of field engineers from First Field Engineering Regiment, Chilliwack.

Also taking part will be a troop from "C" Squadron, British Columbia Regiment, Nanaimo, and men from 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, Work Point.

This area will be bounded on two sides by the south boundary of East Saanich Indian Reserve and Patricia Bay Highway.

Commander of these manoeuvres will be Maj. H. S. Johnson of QOR's.

Farm lands involved are all private property and recently tilled, an added obstacle for vehicles.

Cowichan Schools Cost Up $55,000

DUNCAN — Cowichan School District 65 budget for 1956 of $658,393, an increase of $55,000 over the 1955 budget, was revealed by a school trustee Thursday night at a ratepayers' meeting in Fairbridge School.

The district's share of school costs—$237,197—is apportioned among the City of Duncan, 19.7 per cent; the Municipality of North Cowichan, 24.39 per cent, and the unorganized rural area, 55.91 per cent.

Largest single item is for teachers' salaries — $365,000 — more than $30,000 above the amount paid last year.

Expenditures last year were about $2,500 under the budget. The present teaching staff of 89 is expected to increase by eight in September with the completion of new schools.

Second largest expense item is the operation account, including janitors, supplies, light and power, fuel and insurance, an estimated $74,450.

Conveyance of pupils will cost $42,800, an increase of $2,500 over 1955.

This year the board will spend $50,397 on repairs and maintenance, almost $15,000 more than last year.

Provision is made for capital account expenditures totalling $22,843 in addition to the capital expenditures authorized by the school building by-law of $660,600, passed last November.

School board chairman John Homer presided at the Fairbridge meeting, which was sparsely attended. George Bonner, last year's board chairman, was chief critic of the new budget.

New Log Shipment Eases Shortage

CHEMAINUS — About 1,500,000 feet of standard fir logs, destined for the local sawmill, have been towed to storage grounds at Ladysmith.

The logs were brought from a Howe Sound booming ground and will help to ease the log shortage here.

MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. operations at Copper Canyon and Nanaimo River are now working at half strength.

Further Studies Of Point Ellice Bridge Proposed

Insufficient investigation has been carried out in connection with Point Ellice Bridge reconstruction planning, according to the local chapter of the Architectural Institute of B.C.

It is almost certain that existing plans for a two-lane structure will prove inadequate "before long," the architects told council this week.

A letter calling for careful study and asking that Capital Regional Planning Board be called into the city scheme was made public today.

PAYMENT ASKED

President of the AIBC here, Charles E. Craig, wrote:

"The Capital Regional Planning Board has available a competent and qualified staff, and it is suggested that a solution to the problem (of extending professional town planning in the city) may be for this staff to undertake work on specific projects . . . provided that payment is made for work undertaken."

The chapter suggested that the bridge project, off-street parking planning, the proposed new zoning by-law, location of a site for a civic auditorium and for a new court house, should all be planned by one body.

Taking the bridge as an example of present inadequate planning, the architects said the proposed site ". . . apparently takes little or no account of future metropolitan growth."

NEW SITE HINTED

The letter states that, if the bridge were considered in relation to the other projects contemplated it might be shown that the bridge would be more useful on another site. "Almost certainly it would show that two lanes will be inadequate before long."

A spokesman for the architects' association said to its knowledge only investigations into strength of the present piers and traffic counts across the bridge have been made.

"Traffic counts taken on the bridge would be of questionable value as few people are using the bridge at present due to speed limitations in effect."

It was suggested that the city should carry out traffic checks on Gorge Road, Craigflower Road and Johnson Street bridge to determine the traffic potential which would possibly use the Point Ellice structure if it were renewed.

Mayor Percy Scurrah said he felt the bridge question had been under adequate investigation for the last 10 years.

Ald. Robert Macmillan, now on vacation had told council earlier that the bridge should be planned in conjunction with the proposed reclamation of the Gorge as a holiday centre.

He said that inasmuch as looks were envisioned to keep the Gorge clear of harbor debris, the bridge might be more economically built in conjunction, the road running across the top of a lock at a point closer to the Gorge narrows.

Careless Drivers Pay $40 Fines In Saanich

Careless driving charges resulted in $40 fines and licence suspensions for two men in Saanich police court Thursday.

Fined were Gerard H. Donovan, HMCS Naden, and Ronald Victor Rowley 3820 Blenkinsop.

Police said Donovan was charged following an accident on Douglas near Dieppe on Feb. 5 when his car went out of control for 218 feet down an embankment and through a fence.

The car flipped over on its side, causing damages of $600.

Court was told Rowley was driving east on Tattersall when he collided with a motorcycle at Quadra on March 6.

Rider of the motorcycle required hospital treatment for injuries. Total damage to the vehicles was $250.

FINE WOOL

Record price of $3.46 a pound was paid for one bale of extra-super Tasmanian wool in Australian sales in 1956.

MEASLES, MUMPS HIT IN OAK BAY

High incidence of childhood diseases reported this year in Saanich and Victoria-Esquimalt has been repeated in Oak Bay.

So far this year there have been 41 cases of rubella (German measles) and 36 cases of mumps, compared with 15 and eight respectively throughout all of 1955. Chicken pox, though high with 67 cases, is still far less than was recorded last year—150 cases in all.

Saanich, Victoria and Esquimalt have had 43 per cent more cases of the three listed diseases than were recorded throughout 1955.

BOOST PRODUCTION

Joint production committee including labor, office workers and management were started in Norwegian industry in 1946.

Licenses for All Motorboats, Outboards Proposed in Senate

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation to empower federal authorities to license all vessels in Canada, including motorboats and outboards, and control their speed was introduced Thursday in the Senate.

Senator J. W. de B. Farris (L-British Columbia), who proposed the measure on behalf of the government, said it poses important constitutional questions which must be considered carefully by the upper house.

The two steps are proposed in a bill making a number of administrative changes to the Canadian Shipping Act. It would also give parliamentary approval to an international convention signed in 1954 for the prevention of the pollution of the seas by oil.

Senator Farris said the federal government now has power to regulate shipping in what are known as minor and inland water. These include the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence river, Lake Winnipeg and sheltered waters on the esat and west coasts.

The bill, Senator Farris said, would enable federal authorities to regulate shipping, including use of pleasure boats, in all other waters.

The bill, he said, enlarges the area to which regulations controlling the speed and safe operation of motor vessels shall apply. It also would enable the federal government to license every motorboat — "Even the little outboard motorboat."

Plane Crashes, Explodes; RCAF Pilot Safe After Leap

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The pilot leaped for safety Thursday seconds before an RCAF Mustang fighter training plane, loaded with live ammunition, crashed and exploded on a farm near Strathroy, 25 miles west of here.

FO Roderick Pritchard, 28, of Sarnia, Ont., bailed out at 2,000 feet after the plane's engine conked out. He wrenched his left leg slightly on landing safely on another farm nearby.

The propeller-driven plane, one of the Second World War's outstanding long-range and escort-fighter aircraft, slipped off a barn and then exploded as it hit the ground, killing a cow.

Totems Out; A's Enter Hoop Semis

Alberni Island Hope For B.C. Prep Title

The unfortunate Victoria High School Totems came an early cropper Thursday in the B.C. high school basketball championships at Vancouver, losing to tournament favorites, Lester Pearson High of New Westminster, 38-28.

Totems thus dropped out of the championship round after only two games. They will meet Salmon Arm at 6.30 tonight in a consolation round.

The responsibility of bringing the provincial crown to the Island now rests on the shoulders of Alberni District High School Chieftains, who swept over West Vancouver Thursday, 59-34, in the other half of the draw from Totems.

Chieftains, who finished second to Vic High in the Island tournament, are now one of four teams left in the championship. Along with Lester Pearson, also undefeated are North Surrey and Magee High of Vancouver.

Alberni will meet Magee, conquerors of Lester Pearson in the mainland final this year, tonight at 7.45 in a semifinal game.

MET THEIR MATCH

Totems appeared slightly overawed by the New Westminster quintet Thursday, shooting poorly and stumbling up against an air-tight, close checking defence.

Pearsons took a 13-9 lead at half-time and were well in front 25-13, entering the final quarter.

Dave McDonald led the winners with 15 points, while Bob Tomlinson with 10 points and Tom English with eight toiled for Vic High.

CHIEFTAINS ROMP

Alberni fared just the opposite against West Vancouver. Chieftains led all the way from the opening buzzer, and their sizzling attack bewildered the mainland squad. They had a 23-18 lead at the half.

Island all-star Gary Panton led the victors with 20 points, while Fred Kangas dumped in 15 for West Vancouver.

In other games Thursday, Esquimalt High went down to its second straight defeat, this time to Vancouver College by a 54-20 score, while the fourth Island entry, Cumberland, moved ahead in the consolation round by bumping Langley, 45-40.

North Surrey won their game against Salmon Arm, 44-40, while Magee dumped South Okanagan High of Oliver, 51-37.

Island scorers follow:

West Vancouver—Kangas 15, McConnachie 4, Kershaw 4, McInnis 2, Tremble 4, Bohne 2, Lankaster 3. Total—34.

Alberni—Harcus 6, Andrews 10, McDonald 2, Pennington 4, Taylor 3, McShane 9, Panton 20, Thompson 5. Total—59.

Victoria — Tomlinson 10, Kowalik 1, Wilson, English 8, Chiko 2, Skillings 5, Wooldridge 2, Devlin, Austin, Vickery. Total—28.

Lester Pearson—Grozier 6, Swan, Nicholson, McLean, McDonald 15, Carley, Kygo 9, Winslade 5, Gillespie 1, Redaglaiati 2, Stewartson. Total—38.

Vancouver College—Petty 2, Seale 15, Brunelle 8, Lasko 17, Towspyka 10, King 2. Total—54.

Esquimalt — Whalen, 3, Benson 7, Mitchell 2, Shaw 8. Total—20.

Cumberland—Kotkonkak 8, Bulatovich 10, Mossey 4, Hutton 13, Tate 3, Carlson 8. Total—45.

Langley—Haaheim 2, Jamont 3, Reeves 4, Waters 12, Mountain 9, Byrnes 4, Brandow 4, Christiansen 2. Total—40.

AWAY ON TITLE HUNT

Victoria Meteors are in Vancouver today and Saturday for the B.C. junior girls' basketball final. GOLD DUSTERS TO BE HONORED

Olson, Anderson Due To Rejoin Cougars

There was a brighter hue to the bleu blanc rouge of the Cougar jerseys today as the club awaited tonight's Western Hockey League clash with New Westminster Royals at Memorial Arena.

Coach Eddie Olson will definitely play and centre Doug Anderson is a likely starter.

Both have been hobbled by injuries the past three weeks, Olson with a minor ankle bone fracture and Anderson with a shoulder injury.

Anderson will also be one of the central figures at the game at which the Cougar "gold dust line" will be honored.

He centres that unit of Doug Macauley and Colin Kilburn which has been the club's main scoring weapon this year.

All three have averaged better than a point a game this season.

Kilburn heads the parade with 43 goals and 36 assists for 79 points; Macauley has 29 goals and 40 assists for 69 points, and Anderson, in 61 games, has 23 goals and 39 assists for 62 points.

Products of Edmonton, the gold dusters will be honored at a centre-ice ceremony between the second and third periods.

Statistically, Cougars enter the contest with a slim chance of overtaking Vancouver Canucks for the league title. To be successful, Cougars must win both their remaining games, tonight, and at Seattle Saturday, while Canucks lose both theirs to Seattle, at Vancouver tonight, and to the Royals, at New Westminster Saturday.

To the Royals the game is even more important. Although they hold a two-point edge over Seattle in their bid for the third and final playoff position, they still need one victory to consolidate that position.

Seattle needs at least a win and tie, combined with two New Westminster losses, to gain a playoff berth.

Cougars, meanwhile, have applied for, and received, permission to use rookies Larry Leach and Pete Pangabko in three additional games.

Playoff dates as announced Thursday by league president Al Leader put the Cougars at home for the round-robin semifinal opener against either New Westminster or Seattle here on Tuesday. Top teams in the Round Robin meet on a best-of-seven count final.

Schedule follows:

Tuesday, March 20—New Westminster or Seattle at Victoria.

Wednesday, March 21—Vancouver at New Westminster or Seattle.

Friday, March 23—Victoria at Vancouver.

Saturday, March 24—Victoria at New Westminster or Seattle.

Tuesday, March 27—Vancouver at Victoria.

Wednesday, March 28—New Westminster or Seattle at Vancouver.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Nashua, the millionaire race horse, faces one of the sternest tests of his brilliant career in the $100,000 Gulfstream Park handicap Saturday but the trainer of the big bay colt says he is "ready."

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, who conditions Nashua, sent his four-year-old star over the Hialeah track Thursday and Nashua did the half mile in 46 2-5 seconds and the five furlongs in a blistering .59.

Lampson School Cage Champions

Climaxing an undefeated season with four straight victories in a round-robin tournament at Mount View High School gym, Lampson St. School Thursday won the senior boys' elementary school basketball championship.

In sweeping to the title, Lampson Street defeated McKenzie Avenue, Craigflower, View Royal and Vic West schools.

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Favorites sloshed unscathed through a rain-soaked, bone-chilling first round in the North and South women's amateur golf tournament Thursday, though several of them had close calls.

Marlene Stewart, former British amateur champion from Fonthill, Ont., defeated Sally Carroll of Wheeling, W.Va., 7 and 6.

Miss Stewart lost only one hole and shot three-over-par golf.

Consistency Key In Island Golf

Most golfers will agree that, when tournament time comes along, there is nothing like the home course.

Playing a tournament over his own course, the golfer has the intangible psychological edge of "feeling at home" and the more substantial advantage of knowing the twists of the fairways, the unseen but lurking hazards and the roll of the greens.

But, in the Times Vancouver Island Match Play Open Golf Tournament, a golfer who goes to the final has to be able to play his top golf on any course and do it consistently.

Throughout the duration of the tournament, from the qualifying round, through 32's, the 16's, quarter-finals, semi-finals and finals, the tournament shifts each Sunday to one of the four top courses in the Victoria area—Colwood, Oak Bay, Uplands and Gorge Vale.

And each course provides its own particular test to the visiting golfer.

The scenic Colwood layout, which has this year's qualifying round March 25, is lengthy and hemmed in by trees that can swallow errant tee shots.

Oak Bay, nestled on the edge of the ocean, is treacherous because of its wind conditions and requires pin-point accuracy.

Gorge Vale is a non-conformist course with alternate wide and narrow fairways and its long, hilly holes tax the stamina as well as the accuracy of the golfer.

At Uplands, a long, tough first nine can often take the steam out of a golfer before he reaches the comparatively easy back nine, known as Birdie Alley.

Since the tournament first started, in 1950, the home course advantage has been used only twice in the final—last year when Bill McColl defeated Hughie Morrison at Colwood, and in 1953 when Bob Morrison beat Bob Fleming at Uplands.

Bantam Ben Booming Back?

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Ben Hogan is on his way back today. That's the word out of the south as the golfing contingent heads towards the coveted Masters Tournament at Augusta, April 5-8. Bantam Ben is getting ready.

Which means that when they go at it in what ranks as one of the top four fairway events—including the Open, P.G.A. and World at Tam O'Shanter—the little mechanical man is the one they'll have to beat.

Bantam Ben probably would be the first to issue a denial. He announced after losing the Open in a playoff to Jack Fleck last year that he was through with "serious" competitive golf.

But even Hogan hasn't satisfied all his ambitions.

The one left for him is the honor of winning the Open a record fifth time. Right now he is tied four-all with Bobby Jones and the ancient Willie Anderson.

Ben wants that fifth which would put him in a class alone.

And, according to information seeping north, he's getting ready for a "serious" crack at it.

Proof is that for more than a month, Hogan has been practicing daily—and with all that old, grim attention—at the Seminole Club in Palm Beach. And through his last dozen or so rounds he hasn't been over 70 on what rates as a right tough golf course.

"Not only that," says an informant who has watched him playing, "But he has added almost 20 yards to his drives."

That will be strictly bad news for the rest of the professional field. Because even without that extra distance, Hogan was a threat any time he ever stepped onto a tee. With it, he'll be a little bit short of sheer murder.

That Open lure, when they go at it in Rochester, N.Y., come June, is the full answer.

Jean Sets Record And So Does Bert

Beliveau Gets 45th Goal; Red Wings, Rangers Tie

Montreal 5, Chicago 2; Detroit 2, New York 2

By The Canadian Press

Jean Beliveau broke one National Hockey League record and Bert Olmstead tied another as Montreal Canadiens defeated Chicago Black Hawks, 5-2, Thursday night in the fast-closing season.

Beliveau counted his 45th goal with barely a minute to play, stick-handling goalie Al Rollins out of position and easing the puck into the net. He broke the record for a centre in one season. The old mark of 44 was set by Joe Malone, also of Canadiens, back in 1917-18 when the season was only 22 games.

Olmstead fired his 55th assist on Beliveau's big goal, tying the record made in 1950-51 by Ted Lindsay of Detroit Red Wings.

Maurice Richard tumbled into the Chicago net in the first period and had to be helped from the ice. Five stitches were taken in a cut in his head but he is not believed to be seriously hurt.

Dickie Moore, Don Marshall, Bernie Geoffrion and Olmstead tallied the other Montreal goals before a crowd of 13,445 fans in Montreal. Eddie Litzenberger got both the Chicago goals.

Nothing was at stake in the game as far as league standings went but the tail-end Black Hawks put up a spirited battle against the NHL leaders. They hung on for two periods before wilting under the Montreal attack in the finale.

Detroit Red Wings took a firmer grip on second place by tying New York Rangers 2-2 before 11,278 spectators in New York. The Rangers, who have two games left to Detroit's one, trail the Red Wings by two points.

Rookie Norm Ullman stole the puck from New York defenceman Bill Gadsby midway through the final period to tie the score.

Bill Dineen gave Detroit the lead at 10.36 of the second session after a scoreless first period. But the Rangers came back with goals by Danny Lewicki and Dean Prentice before the period ended.

LEAF DOCTOR SETS CLANCY TO THINKING

TORONTO (CP — King Clancy, Toronto Maple Leafs hockey coach, Wednesday figured the medical profession must be hitting a slump. The club's health-helper, Dr. Jim Murray, advised Brian Cullen to hold his stick thus and so to overcome a sore-hand disadvantage.

"Shoot like this," said Dr. Jim, driving toward a goal—and upending coach Clancy in the action.

Clancy staggered to his feet breathless but uninjured.

"What's the matter, doc?" he gasped. "Business so bad you've got to provide your own patients?"

Cricketers On Carpet For Actions

LONDON (CP)—England's test cricketers return from Pakistan today to face criticism of their conduct during a three-month tour of the republic.

Earl Alexander of Tunis, former governor-general of Canada and president of the Marleybone Cricket Club — governing body of the sport—will meet the players Saturday to demand an explanation of controversial incidents that marred the tour.

Lord Alexander is in Canada on a business trip and is scheduled to return to Britain today especially to meet the players.

Two incidents marred the tour in which the MCC "A" team, composed largely of promising young cricketers, won only the last of four test matches. Pakistan won two and one was drawn.

DOUSE UMPIRE

The most serious took place Feb. 26 following the third test match when a group of English players man-handled Pakistani umpire Idris Begh in a hotel room and doused him with water. In the final test a Pakistani player accused English players of using "abusive words" while he was batting.

Lord Alexander apologized to Pakistan cricket officials for the incident involving umpire Begh.

The MCC offered to cancel the remainder of the tour after the water-dousing incident but Pakistani officials asked that the English team complete the tour.

Begh made a number of questionable calls against the English players during the third test and the water-dousing followed.

British sports columnists have called on the MCC to take "drastic" action against the team.

Canadians Fare Poorly In Shuttle Tourney

LONDON (Reuters)—Eddie Choong of Malaya was installed as the favorite Thursday as he reached the semi-finals of the all-England badminton championships. Choong won the title in 1953 and 1954.

Beverley Westcott of Toronto was eliminated in the third round of the men's singles while another Canadian, Marjorie Shedd of Toronto, was eliminated in the third round quarter finals of the women's singles.

B. Glans of Sweden beat Westcott, 14-17, 15-12, 15-8. Miss Shedd was beaten by Mrs. W. C. E. Rogers of England, 11-7, 11-12 and 11-7.

E. F. McTaggart of Vancouver and Westcott were beaten Thursday by the Danish pair, O. Mertz and N. Bucholst, 8-15, 9-15, in the first round of the men's doubles at the championships at the Empress Hall here.

In the first round of the women's doubles Miss Shedd and Joan Warren of Toronto beat W. Bean and R. Wyatt of England, 15-12, 15-7.

Jean Waring of Calgary was defeated Wednesday in first-round play by defending champion Margaret Verner of the United States, 13-3, 11-0.

Herbert Seven Under But Only One on Top

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Husky Lionel Hebert, never a PGA tournament winner, gave the St. Petersburg Open field an early seven-under-par 65 to shoot at Thursday, and it held up for four hours while other results poured in.

His 31-34 over the Lakewood Country Club's par 36-36-72 course gave him a one-stroke lead at the end of the first round.

Jerry Kesselring of Toronto was tied with several others for sixth place, four under par at 68.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, once the foremost United States amateur and Art Wall, Jr., of Pocono Mano, Pa., fired 66s to tie for second.

Hebert, 28-year-old Erie, Pa., stylist, used only 24 putts, including three from the fringe, for his par-busting round. He dropped an eight-foot birdie putt on the first hole, chipped in from about 45 feet out for an eagle on the second. He picked up four more birdies, including another chip in on No. 11, and never went over par.

HIDE THE CHINAWARE; EWART'S COMING BACK

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Ewart Potgieter, seven-foot-two-inch gentle giant of South African boxing, is to fight a return match with Canada's James J. Parker here some time in May.

The bout was clinched in a radio-telephone talk Wednesday night between a South African boxing official and Parker's manager.

The slow-moving Potgieter fought the Barrie, Ont., heavyweight to a draw in London last November.

Most British critics claimed Parker should have won.

Amateurism Costly Claims Santee Lawyer

NEW YORK (AP)—The fourth legal battle between star miler Wes Santee and the United States Amateur Athletic Union ended Thursday in a draw. Santee will run in Cleveland tonight and his hearing for a permanent injunction against the AAU will come up Monday.

The hearing originally was scheduled for Thursday, but New York Supreme Court Justice Walter A. Lynch, after listening to counsel's opening statements, suggested they might like to meet in his chambers to narrow the issues before going any farther.

Both Charles P. Grimes, Santee's lawyer, and Louis Nizer, representing the AAU, agreed. The jurist obviously feared the hearing would last too long if the two attorneys did not reach some agreement on just what they were arguing.

"That's fine with me," thundered Grimes before he entered Judge Lynch's chambers. "I've got Wes drawing up a list of his approximate costs since he has become a star and he's not quite finished.

"When I put him on the stand, we'll prove that his outgo exceeded his income by $5,000. That is, it cost him $5,000 to be an amateur. And that is the thanks he gets."

Wagner, Numa Stagger to Mat Deadlock

After expanding untold horsepower in energy, buckets of sweat and a well of tears, Strangler Bob Wagner and Leo Numa settled for a tie in the main event of Thursday night's wrestling card at Victoria Ballroom.

Numa took the first fall with a straddled wrist lock after 44 minutes of hostilities but the treacherous Wagner, who flattened referee Dave Pye during the bout, got the equalizing fall five minutes later. The timekeeper called a halt to the match after one hour and only two falls.

In the semi-main, strongman Adrian Baillergen took the full measure of paunchy Lu Kim, using his drop kick to perfection.

The opener, between two professional football players, saw pleasing newcomer Reg Pearkes gain a draw with Gil Mains.

JEERS TURN TO CHEERS

Bronco Boosts Ranger Hopes

NEW YORK (UP)—Now that he has conquered "the butterflies in my stomach," Bronco Horvath could be the New York Rangers' "sleeper" in the National Hockey League playoffs starting next week.

The dark-haired centre from Port Colbourne, Ont., was a bundle of nerves when he made the big jump from Edmonton in the Western League to the Rangers earlier this season and was jeered by the gallery gods at Madison Square Garden.

But those jeers have now turned to cheers for the likeable Bronco, who recently was promoted to a regular line, with Wally Hergesheimer and Dan Lewicki as his wings.

In the Rangers' last eight games, the Horvath line has accounted for 13 goals. Bronco himself has accounted for four goals and eight assists during that span.

Horvath set a new Western League record last season by totaling 102 points with Edmonton, a Detroit farm club. He was acquired by the Rangers from Detroit during the off-season and scored a goal in his first National Hockey League game.

However, after that smashing debut Bronco fell victim to the jitters.

"I couldn't do anything right because of the butterflies in my stomach," he admitted. "It got so bad I was scared to step on the ice. But Phil Watson told me that if I made a mistake to cover it up the best I could and then forget about it."

That little advice from his coach seemed to do the trick. Horvath, at least, appeared to calm down considerably and when one of the Ranger lines went into a slump he got his big chance to team with Hergesheimer and Lewicki.

Beliveau Near NHL Point Crown

Barring some phenomenal sniping elsewhere, Jean Beliveau of Montreal has wrapped up his first National Hockey League scoring title. By the same token he has the top goal production in his pocket, too.

The big Montreal centreman bore down Thursday against Chicago for a goal and an assist—his 45th and 40th respectively—for 85 points and a six-point lead over Detroit's Gordie Howe. Canadiens have two games left.

HARRY JACOBS DIES

World Champ Got $600 Purse

CINCINNATI (AP)— Wallace (Bud) Smith, world lightweight champion, said Thursday he got only $600 for the fight in Boston March 5 when Tony DeMarco stopped him in nine rounds.

It was announced after the fight that the gate receipts were $33,262. A champion rarely gets less than 30 per cent of the receipts

Smith made the statement when he surrendered at police headquarters on a warrant sworn out by his wife, Bette, charging failure to support their three daughters. Mrs. Smith has sued the lightweight title holder for divorce, charging gross neglect.

The court awarded her $45 a week pending outcome of the suit.

Smith told a reporter Thursday that he is delinquent on payments to his wife, and added:

"I just haven't been making any money. I only made $600 out of that fight with DeMarco."

It features Double-Safe, All-Welded construction . . . new Typhoon Engine with increased horsepower . . . increased economy . . . new 50% larger brakes . . . Deep Coil Springs on all four wheels . . . greater manoeuverability . . . and Rambler's already famous Airliner Reclining Seats, Twin Travel Beds, and Weather Eye Heating and Ventilating System.
DEEP COIL RIDE
Only Double-Safe, All-Welded construction gives you the comfort of the Nash Deep Coil Ride. Other cars, because of their construction, can use only short springs, but the Nash Rambler has big coil springs on all four wheels!
DOUBLE-SAFE ALL-WELDED CONSTRUCTION

NEW POWER, LARGER BRAKES
The Typhoon OHV 120 H.P. engine is Canada's newest, most advanced 6 cylinder engine. It has increased horsepower, yet it even surpasses previous Rambler engine economy. In keeping with this new power, Rambler gives you 50% larger, safer brakes.
NEW, ROLL-DOWN REAR WINDOW
The "Safety Styled" Cross Country features a rear window that rolls down into the door, providing greater visibility and eliminating the usual swinging portion of the tailgate. Nash Deep Coil Ride and Double-Safe, All-Welded construction make the '56 Cross Country the world's most comfortable and safest station wagon.

Federal Hospitalization Plan Outlined in Full by Martin

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Martin said today the federal government is not putting pressure on any province to accept the federal offer in connection with a proposed national hospital insurance scheme.

Some of the provinces, he said, have set up committees to study the federal offer made Jan. 26, but only B.C. has indicated acceptance.

Under the offer, the federal treasury would pick up the tab for:

25 per cent of the average per capita costs for hospital services in Canada as a whole and 25 per cent of the average per capita costs in the province itself multiplied by the population covered.

The insurance may provide for:

1. Special diagnostic laboratory and radiological services to persons in hospital and within an agreed period of time to persons outside of hospital.

2. A limit on the out-of-pocket basic hospital fees to be borne by the insured patient. The scheme would cover standard ward care.

National average federal payment under the federal proposal would be $11.42 a person. The Six lower-cost provinces will receive more than 50 per cent of their shareable costs, though the actual per capita payments would be less than the national average. Newfoundland would receive an estimated 72 per cent of its shareable costs; Prince Edward Island 65 per cent; New Brunswick 59; Nova Scotia 57; Quebec 53, and Manitoba 51.

Ontario would recover 49 per cent; B.C. 45; Saskatchewan 47; Alberta 46. But in each of these latter cases, federal per capita payments would be higher than the national average. For example, for B.C. the per capita payment would be $12.84, the highest per capita payment among the provinces.

Some provinces had asked that tubercular and mental patients be included in the scheme, but Mr. Martin argued that there is no justification for this.

Hospital costs already have been lifted from the shoulders of these patients and assumed by provincial and municipal governments.

Bob Hope to Russia? Page the Diplomats!

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rapid Robert Hope almost made it to Russia, and may make the trip yet.

This is one of the facts gleaned from the fast-travelling comic, just returned from three months of globe-trotting and film-making.

"I could have gone to Russia," Hope remarked, "but I didn't have the time. I had to get back here right away for my next TV show.

"I'm going to get there, though. I know how I'll do it. I'll have our ambassador in England, Winthrop Aldrich, take me to the Soviet ambassador and make arrangements. Then I'd give a show for the American colony and others who understand English in Moscow. Think of the gags I could use there!"

Adjudicators Impressed By Ability of Children

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Ability of Victoria school children, as demonstrated on the proving ground of the Music Festival, continued to impress adjudicators Thursday as folk dancing came to an end and elementary class room choirs got into full swing at Metropolitan Church.

George Lambert, one of the most distinguished and sought-after vocal teachers at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto, is this year judging all junior and adult vocal and choral classes at the Victoria festival.

EAGER ATTENTION

His manner with the children is easy and friendly and brought delighted chuckles and eager attention Thursday while his searching comments and advice must have been as rewarding for the teachers as his sincere words of praise.

All sessions provided that heart-warming pleasure that comes with the uncluttered approach and naturalness of children singing and singing well.

The day's work held out fine promise for this evening's concert at Metropolitan Church, when a number of choirs selected by Mr. Lambert will perform.

In adjudicating the final folk dance classes Thursday morning, Mrs. MacFarlane commented that there had not been one poor class at any session.

Of St. Ann's Academy, Grades 5 and 6, dancing a Polish dance, she remarked that it was a "truly beautiful performance." She was also delighted with the excellent rhythmic accompaniment of a young boy who played the piano for George Jay School's Durham Reel.

U.S. Aids Argentine Fight Polio Epidemic

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—U.S. relief agencies rushed medical supplies to Argentina today to combat the polio epidemic that has killed 152 persons in this country since January.

Plane loads of iron lungs from Boston and Dover, Del., reached here early today. More than 10 tons of gamma globulin serum—enough for about a million shots—is to be flown in from the United States this weekend.

The epidemic is one of the worst in the South American history, and neighboring nations are "quarantining" Argentina to check the spread of the disease.

Brazil has virtually sealed its Argentine border, and Bolivia has imposed tight controls on travel to and from this country. The Bolivian post office announced Thursday it will refuse to accept mail from Argentina for duration of the epidemic.

Salt Spring's Oldest Son On 90th Year

GANGES—Ernest Harrison, oldest native son of Salt Spring Island and former Victoria athlete marked his 89th birthday anniversary Thursday at Wildwood Nursing Home, Fulford Harbor.

He is descended from former slaves who were able to buy their freedom from United States owners and settle on the island.

In his youth Mr. Harrison became well known as a boxer, and gave instructions in boxing at the YMCA here.

He was a resident of Victoria for many years until his retirement to his native island a few years ago.

ARCHBISHOP MAKARIOS

DR. GEOFFREY FISHER

'PERSECUTION, BARBARISM'

Return of Makarios Urged by Canterbury

LONDON (UP)—The Church of England brought pressure on Prime Minister Anthony Eden today to return Cypriot leader Archbishop Makarios from exile as soon as public order is restored.

The first suggestion came Thursday from Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, the Archbishop of Canterbury, who told the House of Lords that Makarios should be returned to Cyprus for the good of the island and Britain.

Dr. Fisher, most powerful religious figure in England, was backed in his plea today by the "Church of England Newspaper" which said the deportation of Makarios "only raised heavier storms than ever" on the Mediterranean trouble spot.

The archbishop said "all the orthodox churches regard this event with indignation as an act of sacrilege, persecution and persecution and barbarism."

He said he had received many telegrams of protest against the deportation order.

Dr. Fisher was supported by Dr. George Bell, the Bishop of Chichester, who called the deportation a "blunder" that would appear internationally to lack an adequate moral basis.

Bell was attacked by Lord Salisbury, the House leader, who accused him of "playing ecclesiastical politics" and that "this is a question of murder."

THREE-POINT PLAN

The archbishop submitted a three-point plan for solution of the Cyprus problem and the government was reported to have it under consideration. Dr. Fisher proposed:

1. Britain should appoint a competent person or persons to draft a constitution along lines agreed to by Makarios and British negotiators in the past. This would be on the basis of renewed bargaining.

2. Then the Greek and Turkish governments should join Britain in an immediate appeal to Cypriots to end their acts of violence.

3. Makarios should be informed his exile is temporary, that it will end as soon as public order is restored, and that negotiations with him will resume when the new constitution is drafted.

The archbishop's plan was greeted enthusiastically by much of official Britain today, but whether it will be accepted by the government as a basis for negotiations is not known.

The government informed him Thursday night it could give no assurance that Makarios would be allowed to return even if violence ended. But the archbishop was undeterred. He said he had written to Makarios pleading for an end to violence and that Makarios turned the plea down.

The archbishop's plea for the return of the exiled Makarios followed similar demands by the Labor party. And today the Church of England newspaper said that "events give little support" to the government defence of the deportation.

It said Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd "hopes with sublime optimism that new leaders will emerge now that Makarios is removed.

U.K. Boosts Farm Price Subsidy

LONDON (Reuters) — The government, bidding to strengthen the economy through greater all-round output, announced Thursday a £25,000,000 inducement to British farmers to boost their production.

It increased by this amount its obligation to underwrite prices farmers get for their produce in the open market. Over a variety of products ranging from beef to sugar beets, a subsidy is provided when necessary to make up the deficiency between current market prices and those guaranteed by the government.

In the financial year 1955-1956, the government estimated £250,000,000 would be needed to guarantee farm prices but only £214,000,000 has been required.

New Deal for Cities Looms in Alberta

EDMONTON (CP) — First step of a move to reallocate taxes and responsibilities borne by the Alberta government and municipalities was made Thursday by provincial treasurer Hinman.

It was made in the form of a 17-page brief, entitled "Time for a New Deal in Municipal Finance," distributed to members of the legislature.

Initial meetings with municipal officials are expected to begin shortly.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy?

Andy who is a pixie not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive as prizes for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 20-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus "Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy" Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of The American Peoples Encyclopedia to Coly Aley, aged 11, of Dalton, Ga., for his question:

What Is It Like on Mars?

Of course, we all want to know whether there really are living creatures on Mars. Nobody knows this for sure because no one has yet paid a visit to the red planet. While we are waiting for this great event, we can imagine and make guesses.

A sensible way to do this is to figure out what life for the possible Martians would be like. Telescope pictures and other observations have given us lots of facts about our neighboring planet. We have a good idea what conditions on Mars are like.

Mars is a good deal smaller than the earth. The pull of gravity is therefore much less. Things weigh less. Suppose you weighed 100 pounds of coal and freighted it to Mars. On the smaller planet it would weigh only 38 pounds. You could do more lifting there with less effort. You could take giant strides and leaps because of this lesser gravity.

The air of a planet is also held by gravity. Hence, earth's blanket of air is far more dense than the air on Mars. What's more, Mars has less water vapor in its air, fewer clouds and less oxygen. One estimate claims that earth has 100 times more breathable oxygen than Mars. It may also have 20 times more water vapor.

Mars is some 50 million miles further than the earth from the sun. It gets only about half as much heat and light. It is estimated that the hottest the Martian weather ever gets is between 60 and 70 degrees Fahrenheit. This is at noon on its equator. At the poles, the winter temperatures are around minus 90 to 100 degrees Fahrenheit. And winter on Mars lasts for over 11 of earth's months. The Martian year is 23 earth-months long.

Telescopes show that three-fifths of the face of Mars is a reddish brown color. Most of the surface is mottled with patches of dark green. There are no Martian seas. As with earth each year, first one pole and then the other nods towards the sun. The pole facing away from the sun grows a round white cap. This polar cap shrinks with the coming of summer when the pole nods to the sun again.

It is not likely that the polar caps of Mars are snowy glaciers. Mars does not seem to have enough water to make them. But they well may be made of rime-hoar frost. As a polar cap shrinks, the dark green patches increase towards the equator. It has been suggested that summer vegetation feeds and grows on the melted hoar frost.

These are the facts estimated from telescope pictures. But one mystery remains. That is the strange straight lines that cross and recross over he face of the planet. These canals of Mars do not show on photographs. But observers have seen them through telescopes and agree about them.

We cannot tell if these canals were made by intelligent beings. If so, they are made by creatures used to cold weather and less oxygen than we. The answers, of course, will have to wait.

Andy sends a year's subscription to Treasure Trails to Joan Nasso, age 10, of Brooklyn, N.Y., for her question: How Do the Clouds Get Water in Them?

Have you ever helped mother hang out the wet laundry? A few hours later you are not surprised to find it all dry. The moisture has gone. It has evaporated into the air. It has broken into particles so tiny that the liquid water has turned into gas—water vapor.

Evaporation goes on all the time. The thirsty air soaks up all the water it can. It dries up the puddles. It evaporates water from he sea, the rivers, lakes and streams. There are always tons of it in the air.

Sometimes the thirsty air gets too full of water vapor. This happens when he air cools, for warm air can hold more vapor than cool air. So warm air full of vapor must give some of it up when it becomes cool.

The air high up is cooler than that close to the ground. Also warm air tends to rise. When it gets aloft it is cooled. If it had a full load of vapor now is the time to unload. It unloads the vapor back into tiny, tiny droplets of water. This is the filmy, misty stuff of which clouds are made. At some time these tiny droplets will gel into big rain drops. Too heavy to fly, they will fall to earth. Some of the water wil be evaporated and the cloud story will start all over again.

ESQUIMALT INTRODUCES PLAN

Courtesy Tickets For Erring Drivers

If an Esquimalt policeman stops your car and strides over with his pencil in hand—hold your tongue—he may only want to give you a courtesy ticket.

Esquimalt police commissioners Thursday night accepted a proposal that courtesy tickets be given motorists who commit minor traffic violations, the idea being to promote safety through politeness.

"Be polite, that's the main thing," said commissioner Elvan Walters, who suggested the idea.

He said it should not be thought that members of the police force are interested only in gaining revenue through traffic fines.

The public needs to be impressed with the necessity of traffic safety, and police would be leaders of the move to promote courtesy.

He suggested one side of the ticket would read "In Esquimalt we believe in safety on the road at all times." On the other side of the ticket, the same size as regular violation tickets, would be a list of minor infringements of which motorists should take note.

The policeman handing out the ticket would make a note of the offender's name in the event that his violation was of a mechanical nature, like driving with only one headlight or without a tail light.

Recipient of the ticket would be expected to have repairs made within a reasonable time.

BETWEEN TIMES
By
Judy Boots Streak

Oh an' 'tis an Irish setter I should be not just an ordinary female-type doggie for 'tis the seventeenth of old Ireland the morrow will bring and 'tis time for us to be ready for the wearin' o' the green already yet och aye and all that.

(My mother didn't raise me to be a dialect comedian she just raised me to be an ordinary female-type doggie and come to think of it what good would it do to be an Irish setter Irish setters are red not green.)

But 'tis the seventeenth of Old Ireland on the morrow or did I say that before and the Old Man has threatened to deprive me of my bed and bone if I do not produce deathless prose to commemorate this occasion.

So I will say hurray for the seventeenth of old Ireland and hurray for the Irish especially Irish stew I am very fond of Irish stew but not too many carrots please.

But the main reason I am occupying this corner of your valuable newspaper today is because the old man has an anniversary tomorrow it is not only the seventeenth of Old Ireland it is five years since the Old Man began to inflict Between Times on the unsuspecting innocent public.

And the Old Man is much too modest to make any mention of this epic occasion because he does not wish any fuss made over it such as celebrations parades fireworks or dancing in the streets.

I am sure you will join me in making sure there is no celebrating parades fireworks or dancing in the streets.

But I do think we should mark the occasion in some suitable manner such as five minutes' silence in honor of all the old jokes which have passed away in this space.

Also I am going to have a delegation from the SPCA call on the Old Man and urge him to stop exercising extreme cruelty towards a female-type doggie namely me which is to make her wear her paws down to the bone over a hot typewriter why did I ever come to live with a newspaper man oh woe is me and other doleful expressions.

However let us face it the Old Man has succeeded in lasting through another year so let us give him his due let us permit him to celebrate his anniversary in the style to which he wishes to become accustomed which is to not write a column tomorrow.

So this is to serve notice there will be no Between Times tomorrow the Old Man is going to take a holiday.

(Ed. Note: Oh no he isn't.)

New Spring Fashions in Hats Go to Men's Heads

By TONY DICKASON

This being the season for women's hats it follows, logically, that mention should be made at this time of men's hats.

Sort of help them to get a head.

Hatless and clueless we wandered into the refined shop of W. & J. Wilson, clothiers, on Government, and wound over to the hat department.

After trying on six of the finest in timbre and style, that ol' man of distinction awareness started to creep up again. Lovely sensation.

Here's what topped this reporter: A small, compact English cap of fur felt, that would go ever so neatly with a Jaguar; a pork pie yodeller with a brush on the side that looks like a Japanese sunken garden; a deerstalker of the Sherlock Holmes character; a rain hat with about as much character as a mollusc.

A tyrolean fur chamois which costs 15 fish, in fact it can be used when fishing, and, the hat "piece de resistance," the modish "top level."

This latter is the newest thing out. The top of the fedora is flat. What this accomplishes is remote, but it looks real classy.

The tight little English cap style which originated in the tight little island has been in vogue here among the trench-coat fraternity some three years. In this respect, at least, Victoria is ahead of the U.S. where the cap use is just now heading up.

The deerstalker is strictly for characters, but it has a practical value also, sheds rain and has ear flaps. The very junior board of trade types go for the flat top hats, and people who like to think of themselves as local casual Crosby's head into the Tyrolean.

Berets, the Basque variety, are also achieving increasing popularity. Just outside Wilson's we noticed Deputy Minister of Forests Dr. C. D. Orchard moving along under the practical headgear.

For us, we're waiting for a resurgence of the boater.

Frost Damage to Roads Said Extensive But Not Serious

Saanich Hardest Hit in Winter Weather; Old City Pavement To Be Rebuilt Anyway

Frost damage to Greater Victoria roads during the winter was extensive but not serious, city and municipal officials said today.

Saanich appeared hardest hit, with 160 miles of below-standard road surface in varying degrees of disrepair.

"We are keeping the worst roads open now with temporary repairs, and will go to work on the others when the weather is suitable," said Coun. George Austin, chairman of the council public works committee.

H. D. Dawson, municipal engineer, said most of the damage would be repaired in the municipality's normal dust-laying program.

The city suffered most of its frost damage to old pavements already marked for repair or replacement, said engineer James Garnett.

"We were remarkably lucky," he said. "Most of the damage was to roads already cracked and slated for early repairs, although damage could have been caused to new road surfaces that will not show up for a year or two."

Neither the city nor Saanich has made any estimate of the cost of repairs. Oak Bay expects to spend about $2,000 repairing the cracks in pavement.

Provincial engineers said pavement on the Malahat had broken but that the worst areas were those due for rebuilding. Heaviest damage was at Cobble Hill, it was reported.

Gaglardi's Trips Detailed by Pilot

Departmental Plane Landed at Minister's Home 41 Times in Year

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter

Log books of Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi's two departmental aircraft for the year 1955 show 41 landings at his home town of Kamloops.

Although most of the trips were made on weekends, when he preaches the gospel in his Kamloops Calvary Temple, the minister said every trip made in the planes was on department busines.

The log book showed that frequently the minister flew into Kamloops for the weekend, while his pilot returned to Patricia Bay Airport, returning on Monday to bring the minister back to Victoria.

A total of 134 flights were made during the year by Mr. Gaglardi, who vigorously has denied using the planes for personal use.

Mr. Gaglardi is in Chicago, on an equipment purchasing trip, and is not available for comment. Release of the logs was made to the clerk of the House at the end of the legislative session, and they were not available for opposition comment.

Reporters scrutinized the logs Thursday.

PERSONAL FRIENDS

Mr. Gaglardi's wife, and personal friends, were often passengers on flights. Names of departmental officials, and other cabinet ministers also appear, but Mr. Gaglardi was the passenger on a majority of flights.

The log for the department's Avro Anson Mark V showed that on Monday, Jan. 24, pilot Fred Gilbert, who has been asked to resign by the minister, but who has not yet complied, flew to Vancouver, picked up Mr. and Mrs. Gaglardi, and brought them back to Victoria.

On Feb. 18 the plane took Mr. and Mrs. Gaglardi and their family to Vancouver, and returned empty. On June 10, Mr. Gilbert dropped Mr. Gaglardi off at Kamloops, picked up his niece, identified as Miss Charlong, and flew her to Abbotsford before returning to Victoria.

On Friday, July 8, the pilot flew to Vancouver without passengers, picked up the minister, stopped at Abbotsford for Mr. Gaglardi's brother, and carried both of them to Kamloops.

The plane then returned to Pat Bay, empty, returning to Kamloops on Sunday to bring Mr. Gaglardi and his brother back to Vancouver.

GAGLARDI AND SON

On July 22, again a Friday, the minister flew up to Kamloops, while the plane returned to Pat Bay empty. On Monday it went back up to the minister's home town to carry Mr. Gaglardi and his son to Victoria.

Mr. Gaglardi made another Kamloops trip on Friday, July 29, returning on the Monday with "a party."

On Aug. 3, Rev. Charles Parker, SC MLA for Peace River, and his sons went for a 20-minute flip out of Dawson Creek. The plane then returned to Prince George.

Friday, Aug. 5: The plane flew from Pat Bay to Kamloops, with Mr. Gaglardi aboard, picked up a Mr. Fox, and a party of two, and flew back to Vancouver. Later the same days, Mr. Gilbert took the plane back to Kamloops for the minister and his son, flying them back to Victoria.

Mr. Fox and the party of two have been identified as a trio

'I Haven't Driven Before' Accused Quoted by Police

A city constable testified in Assize Court today he overheard Peter Henry Bell, 20, HMCS Naden, charged with motor manslaughter, state after a fatal December 28 traffic accident, he had never driven a car before.

Constable Richard Ward said Bell made the statement to Constable Walter Calwell after Bell's car had collided with a pickup truck driven by Chief Jasper J. Charles of the Indian reserve. The accident occurred at the corner of Johnson and Catherine streets.

Charles died in hospital shortly after the accident from a head injury.

Constable Ward said Constable Calwell asked Bell how the accident happened. Bell's reply, Ward said, was "I don't know, I haven't driven before."

Defence counsel Alan Macfarlane suggested to Constable Ward that Bell might have mean't he had never driven a car very much.

"It is possible," said Constable Ward, "but we definitely heard him say that he had not driven before."

Mr. Macfarlane asked the constable if he was prepared to say that Bell was impaired by alcohol at the time of the accident.

The constable replied that it was "obvious" the accused had consumed some liquor.

But he added that he honestly could not have laid a charge of impaired driving against Bell because the latter had struck his head on the windshield and suffered from shock.

Bell, he said, was at all times co-operative with the police.

Earlier, Mrs. Caroline C. Charles, wife of the deceased, testified the car which struck her husband's truck was without headlights.

It was dark at the time, Mrs. Charles said, and as the truck proceeded to move from Catherine Street to Johnson there was no traffic in sight at the intersection.

"I only saw the car when it smashed into the truck," she said.

The case is continuing before Mr. Justice J. Q. Wilson.

INCOME TAX TIPS—IF IN DOUBT, SEE ADVISORS

Immigrants Taxed Only on Canadian Earnings

By GORDON HOLMS
Member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants

Immigrants to Canada have written to The Times asking how they stand in relation to Canada's tax laws. I will deal with these questions here:

An immigrant should be sure to mark on Page 1 of the T-1 short form the date of his arrival in Canada if he arrived during 1955.

Only the income he has earned since arrival in Canada is taxable. Thus, under salaries and wages earned, only the amount earned in Canada should be entered.

This is not giving the immigrant favored treatment as his exemptions operate on an inverse ratio. For example, if the immigrant were here for six months in 1955 he would list his earnings for half a year. But the basic exemption of $1,000 would be cut to $500. The same apportionment applies to all exemptions.

Here is a special note on family allowances. New Canadians who receive family allowances for only part of the year may claim the $400 deduction for each child but must then add to the tax payable the amount of family allowances received.

Each immigrant should make his own calculation in this regard to see whether or not the saving on income tax offsets the amounts of family allowances returned to the government by adding to the tax payable.

If in doubt make use of the Income Tax advisory service in the Belmont Building on Government street.

After the first year the immigrant becomes just another Canadian filing returns under the same rules as anyone else.

AS WE LIVE

Seek Congenial Friend In Church or at Work

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

When a woman has devoted the major part of her life to the care of her parents, she is left high and dry when this responsibility comes to an end.

Hurlock

(Q) "Having lived with my mother until she passed away two years ago, I now find it very lonesome. I have a job but that does not keep me busy all the time and I miss the companionship of my mother. It is very lonesome living alone. I am 52 years old, single and neither drink nor smoke. I attend church regularly and try to live a good life. I would like to find a nice companion to live with but where can I find such a person?" Miss R.

(A) There are two places you should begin your search for a person who would make a congenial companion, your church and your work. Surely your minister knows widows or single women of a suitable age who are in much the same boat as you and who would welcome an opportunity to find a congenial companion to be with.

In your work, do you not find other women who are single and who are not living with their families? One of them might be only too glad to share a home with you and thus eliminate the lonely hours she spends when she is not at work.

Because you have been accustomed to living with your mother for so many years, you would find sharing a home with a stranger or near-stranger difficult at first. It would therefore, be better to invite the person you thought might be congenial to visit you for several weeks to see how things work out.

Anyone would, I am sure, appreciate the fact that living with another means many adjustments. People you like and find congenial in work or social life might not prove to be congenial companions if you were with them all the time.

That is why it would be wise for you and the person you think you would want as a companion to try it out on a visiting basis first, to see how things go. Be sure to have the understanding that if you both agree it wouldn't work out, you will not feel hurt or allow it to interfere with your relationship as friends.

Tripoli to Homs to Hama; Discover Famed Water Wheels

By LYNN NEWTON LOWES

Lynn and Peter Lowes spent one long weekend touring by car with Rene Amy, a French teacher, and her Lebanese friend, who proved "to be lots of fun and helpful with the Arabic language."

Beirut, Lebanon.

"We drove north to Tripoli, then northeast through the mountains (via Homs gap) to Homs to Hama, then Aleppo. We stopped at Hama to see the famous water-wheels that scoop water from the Orantes to pour it into aqueducts to be distributed throughout the city. It hardly seemed possible that the stone work was built in Roman times (the huge wooden wheels have to be renewed every 100 years or so).

"The setting was wonderful, the stone arches of the aqueducts, the green trees along the river and the groaning sound of the wooden wheels made an unforgettable memory.

"From Hama we went on to Aleppo through miles and miles of rolling fairly fertile plains. The hills of many shades of mauve and pink made a background for the shades of brown and yellow in the fields.

A Visit to a Crusader Castle

"Halfway between Hama and Aleppo we turned west over a very bad road to visit the famous Krak de Chevaliers which we could see on the top of the hill not too far away. But we took several hours to reach it for it was impossible to go more than 10 mph all the way. The Krak is the best preserved Crusader castle in existence and the best example of medieval architecture as well. Most of the castles were partly destroyed by the Arabs either through warfare or just by making use of the stone blocks for something else. The castle, used during the 11th and 12th centuries, apparently housed 4,000 Crusaders, so you can imagine the size. We were able to drive right up and into the castle. We pitched our tents in the courtyard of the chapel under a row of beautiful arches. It was most exciting!

"A full moon was darting in and out of black storm clouds, there was lightning and thunder everywhere and we had this huge castle to ourselves. We toured it by moonlight and again in the morning. Saw the huge stone vats for boiling the oil to pour on the enemy, saw the huge ovens and the dungeons. The Syrian government started to take an interest about 1930 and you can see evidence of repairs to parts of it.

"Next morning and afternoon we drove to Aleppo and arrived just in time to visit the Souk or covered market. This one was comparable to the one in Istanbul except it had the added interest of donkeys and motorcycles. You'd be looking at some nice piece of material when suddenly a donkey and rider would give you a great whack from behind.

Dead Cities Stand Like Skeletons

"We spent the next night outside Aleppo on the desert. In the morning we were awakened by the camels and donkeys shuffling by to get water from a nearby well.

"An Arab-Bedouin tent was pitched nearby.

"We were up early so that we could drive to one of the dead cities of Syria which was built up around a Christian basilica which in turn was built around the column that the Christian martyr St. Simeon sat on for 30 years. (Huxley writes of him in his book. It is a fascinating story.)

"These dead cities flourished from the fourth to the seventh centuries, partly because of the wonderful fertile land and tree-covered slopes. Now it is nothing! Just big boulders for miles and miles, and from the hill of St. Simeon you can see five dead cities, the remains still standing like skeletons. The road into this country was as rocky as the hills and we broke our muffler—but it was worth it!

"Beirut has apparently developed very quickly in the last five years with the arrival of the Americans and UNESCO. One can see that all the apartment blocks are new and there are new shopping areas for foreigners developing.

"People say that English is starting to replace French here, but I don't think it has yet. In the shops all speak French. Someone can usually be found to speak English but French is the better language to know. All the students learn English now but its always after taking French.

"We are both well except for the fleas which seem to be in this apartment. I must buy some DDT."

Marks 90 Years of Living This St. Patrick's Day

Ninety years ago tomorrow, Annie Wallace was born in London. As Mrs. A. W. Ward, she lives today in Victoria, eagerly anticipating her St. Patrick's Day birthday.

She's a sprightly little lady who lives with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. Ward, and granddaughter, Lorraine, at 1124 Topaz avenue.

Mrs. Ward has a very independent nature and likes to do things for herself. Her keen interest in goings on hasn't lagged with the years. She is still a member of the Court Maple Leaf, Ancient Order of Foresters, which she joined in 1909. At one time she was active in work for veterans, and organized many parties for Veterans of France, who returned from the First World War.

As a young girl, Mrs. Ward lived in Great Yarmouth, where her uncle, the late Fleming Hewett, had a farm as well as a large fleet of fishing boats. It was in 1889 that Mr. Hewett, a widower, decided to bring his daughter and two nieces to Canada. Mrs. Ward recalls vividly that they arrived aboard the old Princess Louise from Vancouver, on May 24 at 2 a.m. The town was still celebrating and there were lights and people everywhere. There were so many people that the travellers couldn't find sleeping accommodation, and Mrs. Ward slept in a hack her first night here.

The family settled at Sooke, Mr. Hewett being the original owner of Grouse Nest Farm.

The nonagenarian says the time she has lived doesn't seem long at all, and that time hangs heavy only if her young granddaughter doesn't come home from school at lunchtime.

Mrs. Ward's daughter, Mrs. Madge Mason, lives in Victoria and she has three daughters, Miss Doris Mason, Miss Shirley Mason, who is in charge of the hospital at Aklavik, and Mrs. Eva Bolt, whose children, Janice and Gary Hayman, are Mrs. Ward's only great grandchildren.

Women Have Same Problems World Over

OTTAWA (CP) — Mrs. Voeeria Garin, wife of the new Portuguese ambassador to Canada, says: "All women are alike."

She has had a chance to observe them in Siam, Ceylon, Washington, Montreal, Portugal and New Delhi during the last 23 years.

"I found that women from Afghanistan, Portugal or North America have the same family problems of how to raise children and what to wear," she said.

As for a diplomat's wife, what she needs most is adaptability.

She exhibited considerable herself. Having just come to Ottawa from the heat and sultry weather of New Delhi, Mrs. Garin found herself in the middle of a sudden March blizzard. It didn't raise a shiver, she said.

The weather, in fact, was "bracing and refreshing." London, England, is Mrs. Garin's home town.

An ambassador's wife must adapt to the weather, but she must also pay close attention to each country's customs. She often adopts them in her entertaining.

The menu in New Delhi was not the same as in Washington. In India beef is never seen on the table. The cow is considered a sacred animal. Many persons there are vegetarians. Many never drink alcoholic beverages.

One of Mrs. Garin's interests is interior decorating. She prefers period furniture for its elegance and grace. She conceded that it may not be so comfortable as modern pieces, but modern decor, she said, has no personality. It's cold.

She conceded, however, that the best effect can be created by mingling modern and period pieces in the same room.

The diplomatic corps, she added, "is one big family."

"It constantly amazes me to run into friends all over the world," she said. "The first people we met in New Delhi were a Turkish couple who had lived next door to us in Washington, D.C."

Jubilee Alumnae Names Mrs. Bolt As President

The quarterly meeting of the Royal Jubilee Hospital Alumnae was held recently in the Nurses' Home when final plans for the annual rummage sale this Saturday in the Market Building, were made. Arrangements for the annual reunion dinner were also discussed.

Turgoose; secretary, Mrs. G. Chater; assistant secretary, Mrs. K. McLaren; treasurer, Mrs. N. McConnell; press, Miss C. Fatt; sick convener, Miss M. Strachan; membership, Mrs. J. McCague; phoning, Mrs. C. Graham; social, Mrs. G. D. Litster. Past president is Mrs. M. Conyers.

Mrs. M. Morry and Mrs. R. Panting, charter members of Victoria Chapter, No. 25, Women of the Moose, cut a birthday cake at the 35th anniversary dinner of the group, held in the Golden Slipper Supper Club.

A combination St. Patrick and spring decorative theme was carried out with daffodils and pussywillows and individual favors of miniature St. Patrick crackers centred with shamrock and clay pipes. A white greeting plaque edged with red carnations, sent by W. Pegg, Vancouver, centred the head table.

Senior Regent Mrs. J. Harper presided and welcomed guests. J. Priddle, governor of Lodge 1390, proposed a toast to the chapter and response was given by Junior Graduate Regent Mrs. A. Hansen. Junior Regent Mrs. M. Bentham toasted the lodge and response was given by Governor J. Harper. Deputy grand regent of British Columbia, D. Knowles, proposed a toast to the B.C. Dancing was enjoyed. Mrs. Bentham was in charge of arrangements; Miss K. Stevens, Mrs. J. Champion and P. Ford baked and decorated the cake.

Sixteen members of Victoria Chapter traveled to Duncan last Sunday to take part in Baby Village Day which was attended by more than 100 members of the Moose. The Deputy Grand Regent of British Columbia Doris Knowles gave an address on the humanitarian projects of the fraternity and Collegian R. Allen, Nanaimo, spoke on her visit to the child city Moosehe rt, and the purpose of the session held in conjunction with other chapters and lodges throughout Canada and the United States. WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

She's Embarrassed by Her Feminine Shoulders

Q.—"What exercises could I take to make my shoulders look more masculine. They are sloping in a feminine sort of way and this embarrasses me."

A.—Do the following ones. Stand tall. Raise the arms sideward, shoulder height. Make small circles with the arms. Circle backward for a while and then forward. Assume the same starting position, with arms shoulder height. Palms face forward this time. Move arms backward as far as possible. Return to starting position. Again take the same starting position. Move the arms up and down. Continue.

Q.—"I love chocolate but every time I eat it I break out in a rash, yet I can't seem to give it up. How can I break myself of the chocolate habit?"

A.—It is up to you to reinforce your wilting determination. Many girls and women find that chocolate is not good for their skins. The next time you eat it and break out look at yourself often in the mirror. Surely you would rather have a clear complexion!

This is just a habit. After you have done without chocolate for a while you will no longer crave it. Keep some hard candy about to eat when that craving comes over you.

Q.—"What do you mean when you say to use lean meat only in reducing diets?"

A.—I mean to remove the fat from the meat and eat only the lean part. Some meats are leaner than others. Try to avoid those which have a lot of ingrained fat in them all the way through. When you have beef ground do not have any fat ground in with it.

Q.—"Is it safe to use cosmetic wax on the face?"

A.—Yes. Apply powder to your face before using the wax.

Q.—"Is a small wrist evidence that one has a small frame?"

A.—Usually it is, but of course there are lots of exceptions.

A.—Yes. Go to a good beauty parlor.

GIRL GUIDE NOTES

Colwood—A collection of pennies amounting to $2.55 was taken at a Thinking Day party held by First Colwood Brownie Pack and First Colwood Guide Company. The pennies will be sent to the World Friendship Fund. Invited guests included the division commissioner, Mrs. W. S. Emmerton; district commissioner, Mrs. Lloyd Mills; captain of Sooke District Rangers, Mrs. P. Colclough; captain of First Langford Guide Company, Miss M. E. Tawney, and her lieutenant, Mrs. E. Rutter. The Brownies presented a special Thinking Day ceremony that included carrying the guiding light to the Guides, who wore uniforms of Guides in other countries to emphasize that guiding is a world-wide organization. Two acting games were played and refreshments served.

James Bay — A 21st birthday party was celebrated recently by Third South Victoria (James Bay) Brownie Pack. Honor guests included Mrs. Ashley-Cooper, first Brown Owl and organizer of the pack in 1935; the division commissioner, Mrs. K. MacDougall; a former Brown Owl, Mrs. D. Abraham; the district commissioner, Mrs. H. Dufton; leaders of James Bay Guides, Mrs. B. McPherson and Mrs. I. Horrod. Brownies enumerated good turns done in the week and opened gifts for the pack. Mrs. Ashley-Cooper told of the first good turn done by the pack. Present leader, Mrs. C. Reid, with the group more than 19 years, was presented with a "thanks" badge. Refreshments were served and a birthday cake cut.

SOOKE—Commissioners Mrs. K. Radford, Mrs. L. Mills and Mrs. E. Gardner gave reports that showed steady growth and many good turns at annual meeting of the Sooke Division Girl Guides held in the Legion Hall at Sooke. Chief project of the division was adoption of a Greek orphan girl with the money being raised by the various packs, companies and ladies auxiliaries. A sum of $25 was also raised for the World Friendship Fund. It was reported that Brownies of the district brought gifts to a Christmas party and that a total of more than 105 gifts were distributed to various organizations at that time. Slides on guiding in Great Britain and Europe were shown by Miss Sheila Privett, captain of First Colwood. Refreshments were served by the auxiliaries.

World's Fashion Centres Tour Planned

A dream harbored by most of America's style conscious women will finally come true for scores of them when they leave Chicago's Midway Airport April 24 aboard a Lufthansa Super "G" Constellation for a month-long tour of the world's fashion capitals.

The special flight is being presented by a Chicago travel tours group under guidance of Patricia Vance, nationally known model and charm authority. Miss Vance, called "one of the top Powers Girls of all time" and operator of her own modelling and charm schools in Chicago, is a recognized fashion authority.

Twelve intriguing European cities and six countries will be visited on the early spring-junket — that will include private showings at such leading fashion houses as Dior of Paris, Fontana of Rome and the fascinating newcomer to the world of style Roduquez of Spain. Of course, say officials of Lufthansa, there will be plenty of free time allotted passengers in each city of personal sightseeing and shopping.

Exciting activities arranged for the lucky distaff travelers include: Leisure in the Swiss Alps, an evening at Monte Carlo, afternoon at the world famous Madrid bull fights, and a warm spring day on the Lido at Venice.

When the Lufthansa Super "G" leaves Chicago it will fly direct to Duesseldorf and the beginning of the tour at that city's leading fashion house. From Duesseldorf the group will visit Berlin, Frankfurt and Munich in Germany; Lucerne and Zurich in Switzerland; Venice, Florence, Rome and Nice in Italy; Madrid in Spain, Paris —and finally home to New York.

MONTREAL, March 15th—I have just discovered . . . the wonderful things which LANOLIN PLUS LIQUID does for dry skins". . . I've always had a dry skin — and never, never before has any product made it so soft and smooth-feeling as quickly as Lanolin Plus Liquid. I know that this subtly fragrant, opaque, golden liquid contains Nature's own kind of lubricants — so that's why the skin accepts it so eagerly and responds immediately. I know, now, that we who are troubled with dry skin can be freed from its problems . . . because of this exclusive, patented formula. Use it as a night cream; as a cleanser; as a make-up base . . . I can promise you happy results with Lanolin Plus Liquid!

Gave A Baby Shower . . . the other night, for a friend. Among her gifts was a dozen CHIX GAUZE DIAPERS —with an extra "dress-up" diaper. Cute as could be . . . rosebuds sprinkled in a gay pattern all over the diaper. This rosebud diaper (dye-fast and non-allergenic) normally sells for 65c . . . but it's yours, FREE, with a dozen Chix Gauze Diapers! Because Chix are made of the finest surgical-type gauze, with a unique "cushioned" pattern and pinked edges rather than hems, they're extremely soft and absorbent . . . so easy to wash . . . so quick to dry. That's why the girls say "Chix are the best!"

Is He A Little Feverish? Probably indicates a condition which has been aggravated — or caused — by irregularity. That's when CASTORIA is so helpful — it's mild, gentle, thorough — never gripes or causes cramps. Castoria furnishes relief from teething troubles, lack of appetite, listlessness, stomach upsets — as it provides natural, satisfactory movements. And children like the good taste! Large family size 45c and family economy size 75c.

This Is A True Story . . . We used to have a lot of trouble with the pipes in the bathroom basin clogging up with waste matter. Then I put one tablespoon DRANO in each drain — and presto! have since had no bother with this slow-draining nuisance! Reason is — the churning, boiling action of Drano dissolves and flushes away waste matter in drains — and prevents sewer germs from breeding. It's such a satisfaction to use Drano in all the drains once a week, regularly . . . and know that they'll be both trouble-free and germ-free. Do share my satisfaction — and get Drano from your grocery, hardware or drug store today.

Earn $10! Send A Favorite Cheese Recipe — or a serving idea — made with one of these famous BORDEN'S cheese triumphs . . . Borden's Baumert (in five flavors!); Chateau; E-Zee Cheez in the re-usable jar; or the King-Size Cheese Slices! Send as many recipes and serving ideas as you like to me . . . I'll publish the best one every week and Borden's will award $10. to the lady who sent it in — the first one who sends in this particular recipe, of course. This chance to earn easy money with your cheese recipes is for a short time only — so please hurry! Here's a favorite of mine, made with Borden's Chateau Cheese — which melts so smoothly!

ASPARAGUS AND HARD-BOILED EGG CASSEROLE

Hard boil six eggs. Cook a package of frozen asparagus in ½ cup water gently. Save the liquid.

Make a sauce . . . slice and melt one package of Borden's Chateau Cheese in a double boiler. Add 2 tbsps. butter and salt to taste. Blend in 2 tbsps. flour —and add, slowly, ½ cup of the asparagus liquid and ½ cup milk.

Slice the eggs . . . Make alternate layers of egg and asparagus in the casserole . . . seasoning with salt and pepper. Pour over the sauce; top with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for about twenty minutes. Serves four very happy people!

I use that recipe with green peas, cauliflower, or green beans, in place of the asparagus. It makes a satisfying and delicious Lenten main dish — so pretty too, with its green vegetable, white eggs and yellow sauce! . . . Now there's my favorite Borden Cheese recipe! What's yours? Mail it quickly to me at Confidentially Yours, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal.

Just Finished Dinner — with the most scrumptious coconut cream pie — made in the twinkling of an eye with one of those wonderful ROYAL INSTANT PUDDINGS! They're pre-cooked to perfection — and as they're super-homogenized — there's never a lump . . . no film on top . . . no starchy taste. Royal Instant Puddings are 'specially nourishing, too, with quick food energy and the beneficial minerals and vitamins of the milk . . . Takes just a minute from package to pudding or pie filling — Royal Puddings, I find, are delicious for parfaits, frostings and frozen desserts. Keep all seven flavors always ready for instant use!

Went Poking 'Round The Garden . . . today and saw the green noses of my bulbs in sheltered spots. Then stood at the kitchen window dreaming of their beauty while I smoothed some Campana's ITALIAN BALM into my busy hands. It's so quick 'n easy to use! Buy the household size Italian Balm with the new handy dispenser . . . both for only 69c. It releases exactly the right amount on your hands! Let's make it a rule this spring, after every exposure to work—water—weather, to give our hands the protection of this really fine product. I don't think there's anything better than Italian Balm!

We Have Finally Succumbed and this week we're going to buy our Budgie. We're all off to the pet shop bright and early Saturday. The children are both hoping he'll be blue. My husband is very partial to white. Oh, they're all such pretty colours, though, it's going to be really hard to choose. I'm so happy that we'll have a Budgie, I'll settle for just a pretty colour. We can hardly wait till the day.

Now Is The Time . . . to get those indoor home improvements done before contracts for outside work take away the carpenters, painters, electricians and plumbers! If you're aiming to lay linoleum in the kitchen before summer as I am, or to put in new bathroom fixtures, I advise you to do it now. Whatever your home improvements, don't delay for lack of ready cash. See your BANK OF MONTREAL manager about a Home Improvement Loan. 2,500 RUSSIANS JAM CHURCH TO HEAR VISITING U.S. CLERGY

MOSCOW (AP)—American churchmen preached in Moscow's Baptist Church Thursday night and more than 2,500 Russians crowded in to hear them.

The Russians wiped tears from their eyes as the Americans spoke. They chorused "amen" repeatedly and nodded their heads vigorously as the words were translated.

They jammed into the small church, designed to hold only a fraction of their numbers.

Creation of 100 New Planets Like Earth Scientists' Plan to End Overpopulation

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Revamping the solar system to create a hundred new planets with a climate like earth's was proposed Thursday by a noted astrophysicist as a way of solving humanity's biggest problem—overpopulation.

Dr. Fritz Zwicky, California Institute of Technology rocket expert, told a reporter that such a project is within the realm of possibility.

Zwicky envisions scooping up great portions of the major planets, such as Jupiter, and Neptune, and transferring them to smaller planets and their satellites—then changing the orbits of the enlarged planets to make their course around the sun roughly comparable to that of our earth.

All this can be accomplished, the scientist said, through proper use of the energies released by man's new weapon against the cosmos—the explosion of the atom.

"There are far too many of us now, and it will be even worse in the future . . ."

BACK-TO-BACK BIGAMIST JAILED SIX MONTHS

Evidence was that McMahon married Lottie Peters, 27, in September, 1947. He went through a form of marriage last Dec. 31 with Barbara Jones Smith, 21. The backyards of the two McMahon residences were opposite one another.

NEW TELEVISION SECTION READY FOR SATURDAY TIMES

By PHIL LEE
Times TV, Movie Editor

TIMES TV SECTION: Starting tomorrow the Times will present weekend readers with a newly devised TV section.

In addition to carrying next week's programs in full—a regular Saturday feature—the section will provide television fans with the highlights in detail for the forthcoming week in the sincere hope that such a column may help them plan their weekly schedules ahead of time.

There will also be the regular "TV With Lee" column, covering weekend highlights, plus pictures of the stars, and columns written by some of the outstanding TV writers in the business, such as Erskine Johnson.

The new TV section is in answer to the hundreds of requests received during the past few weeks for additional information about upcoming shows and programs. It will be done in a handy format which can be lifted out of the paper and placed on your TV set for the week.

Times Crossword Answer

PUZZLE No. 155

EXPLANATIONS OF MORE DIFFICULT CLUES:

COMMENTS

ACROSS:

3. A man, by his Painting may express himself just as any great artist does. A man will Point to draw attention to something already expressed, not to express himself.

5. Barely is more apt. Rarely implies a protracted record of almost constant failures, in which case he can hardly have any real confidence to undermine! One near-failure (Barely) could tend to undermine it "a little" as the clue says.

9. You Refer "to an authority" but Defer "to authority" (without the article.

15. A brilliant Scot, yes. As for Scot, it is too vague. It would not be because he was a Scot that he would "hold the spotlight". You would need to know why or in what line he was brilliant, to interest the audience.

16. Did fits the clue better than Bid. He could not be instructed on "exactly" how to Bid at any auction, as no one can predict in advance how the Bidding will go. At best he might, for example, be given a limit to Bid and then close out. Anyway if he Bid as instructed then he Did as instructed so Did is the surer answer.

22. Cup is preferred for, of course, the average man often has more than one Cup of tea or Cup of coffee, for example. The average man, however, doesn't "often" have more than one Cap.

24. Johnny may want a Try at the prizes too. As for Toy we are not told that there are Toys. The prizes may be other things—candies, games, etc.

25. Invests is preferable since the clue mentions "probably." To "invent a lot" must mean to do a lot of Inventing, in which case he must have a very active mind. It is probable that a man who does a lot of Investing has a very active mind.

26. Men is surer than Man. One "very good Man might give a hockey team a "big" advantage but he would not give a hockey team anything like the "big advantage" that very good Men would surely give.

DOWN:

1. It's a good idea to make a note of the Date of payment, although, of course, the bank will undoubtedly advise you. As for noting the Rate of payment, surely "it's a good idea" is a gross understatement. Who would make a loan without making sure of the Rate he was going to pay?

2. Recent is more apt. Note the clue says "quite a number." Surely you do hear "quite a number" of Recent records on disc jockey programs. As for Decent, we know that every record has some admirers and all are considered Decent by some part of the listening audience and no doubt by the program director or they would not be selected. Thus, since All records are Decent, in somebody's view, the phrase "quite a number" could not apply to Decent.

4. We cannot assume that these are Idioms in a foreign language, and Idioms in your own language are easy to understand. Idiots are possibly difficult to understand.

13. "A big laugh" is just one laugh and this points to his Suit, which may be a funny one. As for Skit, surely it gets more than one laugh. Thus the audience will laugh once at his Suit and get it over with and probably frequently at the Skit, since the clue says he is a "good" comedian.

19. He can certainly learn a great deal from Rome. A Tome is merely "a big book or volume" on any subject and it does not follow that a student can learn anything from it. Home is not favored.

23. Since the clue says "often" Pan is the best answer. A rusty Pin or a rusty Pen is invariably discarded. "Often" is an understatement since it means that "sometimes" it is not discarded. As for Pan, however, you might clean the rust off rather than discard it. Thus "often" fits Pan aptly.

Little Relief Seen Here in Hospital Plan

Jubilee Hospital administrator George Masters said today he did not think a policy for BCHIS coverage of chronic cases announced today would have much effect on Victoria acute hospitals—Jubilee and St. Joseph's.

"It will not be a big relief but it will be a relief," he stated when told of provincial government plans to build hospitals for chronic cases.

"We have a relatively small occupancy of people with long-term diseases, about six or 12 at a time. If other beds are available for these people it will take some of the load off us." Jubilee and St. Joseph's have been crowded to the point where beds have been placed in corridors several times in recent months.

FAST CLEARANCE

"Because of the larger number of chronic hospitals in this area than in some centres, we have been able to keep our hospitals more for acute cases. We are able to discharge chronic cases to chronic hospitals faster than most provincial hospitals," Mr. Masters said.

He pointed out that Gorge Road hospital, Mount St. Mary's hospital and the Saanich health unit each contain beds for chronics, although they cater to the aged and infirm mostly at present.

He said that because the Victoria area is better equipped for care of chronic cases than other B.C. centres, ". . . the government might be expected to do its building elsewhere first."

It is estimated that only about 40 out of 1,000 beds in the city's two acute hospitals are now occupied by cases which would be classed as chronic by BCHIS officials.

Solarium May Benefit

Queen Alexandra Solarium for crippled children is almost certain to benefit through extension of British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service benefits to chronics.

"I feel the Solarium is an institution providing long-term treatment of chronic cases, and therefore would be included," said Donald M. Cox, commissioner of the BCHIS, "but every patient might not be covered."

"I know nothing about the plan, but if it is coming it will be a wonderful assistance to us," said John S. Holdstock, Solarium administrator.

BRILLIANT ACTORS

Venus, Moon Snuggle Up In Rare Duet

The two most brilliant actors in the sky's long roster of evening "stars"—the moon and Venus—got together for a duet Thursday evening.

At about 9 p.m. the bright planet appeared to be nestled almost within the arms of the moon. Victoria observers said the two were separated by a distance equal to half the diameter of the moon.

The two bodies were "much closer than average" for a short time, said Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich mountain. They will be fairly close again in about a month, he said.

Dr. E. S. Keeping, professor at the University of Alberta, referred to the phenomenon as "a pretty sight" but of little importance to astronomers.

Residents of both B.C. and Washington saw the pair.

Prof. Theodor S. Jacobsen, of the University of Washington astronomy department, said Venus will continue bright for the next few days.

12% Overcutting Says B.C. Forester

The Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, is being overcut by 66 million cubic feet or 12 per cent, W. E. Hughes of the working plans division, B.C. Forest Service, told the Sloan commission here today.

This means a 12 per cent overcut of timber. Contrarily, the coastal area is being slightly undercut, he said.

. . . GAGLARDI

of Pentecostal ministers from Oregon.

Mr. Gaglardi and his wife were shown as passengers when the plane flew from Victoria to Kamloops on Wednesday, Oct. 19. Two days later, Friday, Mr. Gilbert flew back to Victoria with Education Minister Ray Williston aboard.

Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black and Health Minister Eric Martin boarded the plane and flew back to Kamloops. They picked up Mr. Gaglardi, Agriculture Minister Kiernan, and his wife, and flew to Castlegar.

From there the cabinet party drove to Nelson to attend a special cabinet meeting, and to turn the sod for a new bridge.

CRITIC BEAMS

Bright Future Predicted For Choristers

BY AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

"I am delighted to think of what lies ahead for you in Victoria with all this extremely fine basic training," declared George Lambert, when adjudicating school choral work this morning in the Greater Victoria Music Festival.

Certainly, the standard achieved in this field by this city's schools would seem to be nearly as high as is humanly possible.

For when adjudicators must resort to what, in Mr. Lambert's own words, are "merely carping criticisms," it means that the contest has become one of rival excellences and that there are actually no bad, or even mediocre performances.

Tonight's concert of picked choirs will prove the truth of this to any music lover wise enough to attend.

The morning's results follow:

Folk song, up to Grade 6: St. Ann's Academy, Grade 6, 87; St. Ann's Academy, Grade 5, 86; George Jay School, Grade 6, 85.

Elementary Schools' composite choir, up to Grade 8; Lampson Street School, 166.

Folk Song, up to Grade 8, Oak Bay Junior High School, 84; Central Junior High School, 82; View Royal School, 81.

. . . DREW

Canada. He appealed to the patriotic instincts of the members to blunt the new threat and to emulate the Fathers of Confederation by building this country—the hard way if necessary—into an independent sovereign nation. He called for public ownership of the all-Canadian line.

E. G. Hansell, acting leader of the Social Credit party in the Commons, declared his group would support the government's resolution preceding the introduction of the government bill to set up the crown company. He believed the government scheme represented the quickest method of getting the all-Canadian pipeline completed.

PROMISE NOT KEPT

Mr. Drew charged Trans-Canada Gas Pipe Line Co. had failed to keep its promise to finance with Canadian funds. He demanded the government force a re-organization of its "chosen instrument," the trans-Canada company. If the re-organized company could not fulfill the all-Canadian conditions, then the entire pipeline proposition should be opened up again to new bids from private enterprise.

Mr. Howe expressed surprise that Trans Canada's undertaking to make about six-million common shares, or 51 per cent of the total, available to Canadians, had been criticized on the grounds that it provided no guarantee that Canadians would buy the stock.

"Of course there is no such guarantee," the minister said, "short of public ownership, which appears to be a second best approach to this matter. I know of no means by which control by Canadians could be guaranteed."

'SHALLOW PRETENCE'

Mr. Drew declared that the government's claim that control of Trans-Canada would be open to Canadians was "shallow pretence." To meet its commitments the company had only to offer 51 per cent of a particular issue of stock, not 51 per cent of the entire stock, to Canadians. In effect, he said, it only had to offer Canadians 51 per cent of some figure considerably below 100 per cent.

Canada one day may be only a vassal state of the U.S. as a result of the government's policy on the Trans-Canada pipeline, Howard Green (PC, Vancouver Quadra) said.

"The government's proposal is just one more step toward an integrated North American continent as sought by so many Liberal members of this House," he declared.

"Especially the minister of trade and commerce (Mr. Howe)."

Mr. Howe interjected the word "nonsense" several times during Mr. Green's speech.

Mr. Green said three U.S. companies control Trans-Canada.

These three companies are not in Trans-Canada for their health. They're not in it for the good of Canada. They're in it for the benefit of the United States."

Fireball Makes Night Into Day Across Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — A roaring ball of fire, seen hurtling through the Ontario sky early Thursday, was reported to have turned night into day at points more than 150 miles apart.

Experts said the flaming object was almost certainly a meteor.

Jalopy Breakwater Ready for Onslaught

Finishing touches on a "jalopy breakwater" north of Island View beach were made today by a crew of Central Saanich workman and volunteers directed by Coun. Ray Lamont.

Working with tractors, and taking advantage of low tide that dropped to the minimum at noon, they placed the cars end to end on a line from the high water mark to the water, at right angles to the direction of the beach.

ONE MORE

"It's an experiment," Coun. Lamont explained. "The council has given me permission to try it, and if it works we will have one farther down the beach where we are constantly having flooding trouble caused by winter storms."

The old car bodies will form a barrier known to engineers as a groin. On California beaches they are built of both wood and concrete, and are designed to arrest and retain sand and gravel washed up by waves.

SAND BUILD-UP

"I am hoping the same thing will happen here," Coun. Lamont said. "According to theory, sand should build up around the old cars and form a barrier to waves. When properly in place, it will be covered by water at high tide."

Car bodies for the project were contributed by residents, and were delivered on flat-deck trucks to the end of the road.

This breakwater is planned to protect the flood gates of the drainage ditch that serves the adjacent area. The second, if adopted, will protect low-lying farm land at Island View beach.

No Dual Taxation In B.C.–Bennett

British Columbia will not enter the field of direct corporation taxes when the existing tax rental pacts with Ottawa run out in March, 1957.

Premier Bennett made this clear Monday when asked to comment on Ontario premier Leslie Frost's announcement that his province will move back into that tax field, renting only personal income tax to the federal government.

"Dual taxation?" asked the premier. "The answer is no."

Green Bedroom Suite to Grace Irish Gracie's Nuptial Lounge

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP) Grace Kelly, America's No. 1 Irish bride-to-be, was sent a green bedroom suite from the nation's furniture capitol today by the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick.

"Grace is a fine Irish girl and the best is none too good for her," John S. Casey, president of the Grand Rapids chapter of the Friendly Sons, said.

The Friendly Sons decided on a "wedding present for Grace" campaign as its main project for St. Patrick's Day this year.

"We thought it was a suitable project because Miss Kelly's father, John, is active in the Philadelphia chapter where the group's international headquarters are located," Casey said.

"We undertake several projects every year about this time to remind residents of this predominantly Dutch community that we Irish are still kicking."

Casey said the Friendly Sons had no trouble getting a furniture manufacturer to donate a green bedroom suite for Miss Kelly.

"But now that we have it, we're trying to figure out how to ship it to Monaco," he said. "We've been told it will cost a small fortune to get it there."

Australia claims the world's largest earthworms. The giant crawlers average four to five feet long and some are an inch thick and weigh a pound or more.

Windsor Motel Changes Hands

Mrs. Sonria Humphry, proprietor of Windsor Motor Court and Motel, 250 Gorge, since 1948, has sold the property to Thomas Mugleston of Edmonton, Alta.

Mrs. Humphry is returning to Europe for a year's touring after which she plans to resettle in Victoria and start another business.

"I shall drive my car across Canada to New York, and sail for England in the liner Queen Elizabeth on May 16," she told The Times today. "I am planning an extensive motor tour of England, France, Spain and Italy."

Mrs. Humphry came to Victoria in 1939 and bought Windsor Court nine years later.

"I am very fond of Victoria," she said, "and I still intend to make my permanent home here."

'Deep Freeze' Used In Heart Suraery On Winters' Son

DENVER (AP) — Richard Winters, 13-year-old son of Works Minister Robert R. Winters of Canada, underwent a heart operation Thursday at General Rose Memorial Hospital.

The boy was placed under "deep freeze" anaesthesia prior to the operation. In this procedure, the patient is encased in shaved ice to lower the body temperature, reducing his demand for oxygen. The surgeon then may open the chest and operate on the heart under direct vision.

Richard has suffered from birth from a hole between the two lower chambers of his heart.

You can't go "ALL-OUT" if you feel "ALL-IN"

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 88

Giant Sunspot Deadens Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — A flareup 93,000,000 miles away on the sun's surface Thursday blacked out short wave wireless communications for 30 minutes to an hour throughout the daylight world.

Solar experts said there may be a repeat performance within 24 hours.

The blackout hit transoceanic wireless circuits, commercial ship-to-shore communications and the vast U.S. Navy radio network. It moved west to east at about 1,000 miles per hour.

FLUORIDATION VOTES APPROVED BY ALBERTA

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta municipalities will be able to conduct plebiscites on fluoridation under a bill given first reading Thursday night in the legislature.

Use of fluorides must be approved by two-thirds of the voters. The legislation applies only to municipalities which supply their own communal water.

ACROSS BRITISH COLUMBIA

UBC Students Quit National Federation

VANCOUVER (CP) — A general meeting of the student body of the University of British Columbia voted Thursday to withdraw from the National Federation of Canadian University Students.

The UBC withdrawal from the organization was tantamount to collapse of the NFCUS.

University of Toronto voted earlier this month to withdraw from the 29-year-old body, University of Manitoba has been out since last November, McGill left one year ago, and University of Montreal quit in 1954.

COPPER MINE RE-OPENS

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Kamloops Copper Co. said Thursday it will reopen the old Iron Mask mine, six miles west of here. The mine was closed in 1920 when copper prices tumbled. A contract has been let for a 150-foot tunnel at the 100-foot level.

RECORD SCHOOL BUDGET

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver school board Thursday announced a record $17,360,169 budget.

The city's share to be raised by taxes is $9,064,661, an increase of $671,264 from 1955.

Provincial government grants are down nearly $350,000.

CATTLE PRICES DOWN

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Prices paid at the annual bull sale and fat stock show were lower than last year.

Total sales were $101,676, down $44,781 from 1955.

The $1,200 paid for the champion Hereford bull by Thomas Jackson of Salmon Arm, B.C., was the sale's highest.

The champion Shorthorn bull owned by Mrs. O. J. McHattie of Cadboro Bay brought $575.

MAY FORCE VOTE

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Former mayor George Bryant said Thursday he will force a public vote if council fails to pave the way for the appointment of a city manager by next week.

Mr. Bryant said he regretted having to threaten the step but added he would only be acting on a mandate which the electors gave him in 1953. He based his campaign in that election on the need for having a city manager in Prince George.

$200,000 OUTLAY SEEN

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) —The district council here said Thursday a new survey shows the cost of moving 34 homes from Mosquito creek, which caused serious property damage in a November flood, will be $200,000.

Council has written to Premier Bennett asking if he made any progress in discussions at Ottawa with Fisheries Minister James Sinclair on sharing the cost of moving the homes.

$25,000 TUG STOLEN

RICHMOND (CP) — Bail of $2,500 was set for Reginald Dale Sequin, 25, charged here Thursday with the theft of the $25,000 tug Nanaimo Seaman.

Sequin was arrested earlier Thursday by RCMP officers who found him swimming in the river.

The tug, taken about a mile down-river from its Lulu island berth, crashed into a log boom near the spot where Sequin was arrested. He told police he had been taking his usual morning swim.

EX-CPR MEN TOUR U.K.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fifty former Canadian Pacific Railway employees left here Thursday night for a company-sponsored tour of England. Another 50 old-timers will join the party across Canada and sail from Saint John, N.B., for Liverpool.

RACISM IN B.C. SCORED

VANCOUVER (CP)—Employers who allow the prejudices of workers to dissuade them from hiring Chinese - Canadians haven't got "guts," says Rev. J. P. Leonard. The parish priest of the Chinese Catholic centre here told a Kiwanis meeting Thursday that there is racial prejudice in Vancouver — "there's no doubt about that."

CANCER VICTIM LOSES HER RACE WITH DEATH

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (UP)—A cancer-stricken Canadian woman died on a liner in the English Channel today only 24 hours' sailing time from her birthplace in Holland where she had wanted to spend her last days.

Mrs. Antonia Manders, 27, was en route from Sudbury, Ont., to Beckel, Holland.

Her husband, Cornelius, was by her side at the end. Their 21-month-old son, Willy, was asleep.

The Manders raced 1,000 miles in 26 hours by ambulance from Sudbury to Hoboken, N.J., to board the liner March 8.

Crack French Unit Rushed to Algeria

Mushrooming Rebellion Prompts Emergency Meeting of Cabinet

(From Reuters, UP)

ALGIERS—At least 107 rebels today were reported killed near La Fayette, in eastern Algeria, in the fiercest battle since Algeria's Nationalist rebellion began 17 months ago.

This casualty figure was announced by officials here tonight after a 36-hour running battle in which French armored cars, infantry and jet fighters encircled and pounded a rebel band.

France ordered new reinforcements into Algeria today in a mighty effort to smash mushrooming violence and rebellion.

The move was ordered at a special meeting of cabinet members and army men in Paris as Arab guerillas set fire to an apartment house in the heart of Algiers this morning, apparently hoping to roast its French resident alive. No one was injured, but 100 automobiles in the building's garage were destroyed.

The crack Seventh Mechanized Division is being withdrawn from NATO forces in Germany and rushed to this terror-ridden land.

CURFEW

At Cyprus British authorities clamped a 24-hour curfew on the towns of Limassol and Kato Zodhia. The action placed their 76,000 inhabitants under virtual house arrest.

Meanwhile an Egyptian military spokesman at Cairo said an Israeli position opened automatic fire across the truce line at an Egyptian position near Deir el Ballah in the Gaza strip today.

DREW BACKS ALL-CANADIAN GAS PIPELINE

Publicly Owned If Necessary

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Battle lines have been drawn in what promises to be a long, hot Commons fight on the government's plan for public treasury help in a cross-Canada natural gas pipeline.

Possibility of United States capital taking control of the Alberta-Ontario natural gas pipeline caused Progressive Conservatives and the CCF to join forces Thursday to denounce the government's pipeline scheme as a blow to Canada's national pride.

Rt. Hon C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, said the federal government's plan for financial assistance from the Ottawa and Ontario treasuries, was the best of several schemes. The federal plan calls for a crown company to build the all-Canadian pipeline through the uneconomic Manitoba-border-to-Kapuskasing section of the route.

UNPRECEDENTED ACTION

Even before Mr. Howe could read his lengthy prepared statement in defence of the government's proposed legislation to establish the crown company, the government had to beat down an unprecedented CCF move to prevent the House considering the measure.

Mr. Howe said private enterprise alone faced serious difficulties in financing a pipeline stretching across the sparsely populated areas of northern Ontario.

"Some kind and degree of public intervention appeared necessary and proper," he added.

Opposition leader George drew in his 90-minute condemnation of the federal plan, demanded an all-Canadian line financed by Canadian capital. But if that proved impossible—and he saw no reason why it should—his party as an alternative would support public ownership of the entire line.

SOVEREIGNTY THREAT

M. J. Coldwell, national CCF leader, warned that the domination of "our economic life by these foreign corporations" was threatening the independence of

Dollar-a-Day Plan To Start in 1957; Excludes Bedridden

Health Minister Eric Martin today announced the B.C. government will provide chronic care under B.C. Hospital Insurance in one year.

He emphasized that nursing home patients, "or more specifically, the bedridden aged and infirm," will not be eligible for coverage.

Cost of chronic care to the individual patient will be on a "dollar-a-day" basis.

The new plan was described by Premier Bennett as the most important announcement made by his government concerning BCHIS.

Health Minister Martin said the program will go into operation in about one year's time, with B.C. carrying the financial burden until the federal government's national health program is functioning.

Details of the definition of chronic care have not yet been worked out between the federal and provincial governments, but Mr. Martin said the federal government's stand has been made clear.

"Its proposed program included care of chronic hospital patients requiring rehabilitation or other intensive treatment services, but not those receiving nursing home care, or more specifically, the bedridden and infirm patients," said Mr. Martin.

Initial impact of the plan will be to lift a heavy case load of chronic patients from B.C.'s acute care hospitals.

Multi-Million Hospital Expansion

Mr. Martin said the first step in the plan will be a vigorous effort on the part of the provincial government to get a multi-million dollar chronic hospital building program under way.

It is estimated that one chronic bed will be required for every 1,000 of population. The figure does not include nursing homes or other custodial forms of facility.

At an estimated cost of $8,000 a bed, B.C. would require 1,300 chronic beds at a total cost of $10,400,000.

"For the past two years, efforts have been made to encourage communities to construct chronic hospital facilities," said Mr. Martin.

"The most generous construction formula in Canada was devised, whereby the province would pay 50 per cent of the costs. But it was to no avail, because the communities could not face the cost of operation.

"It gives me pleasure to announce that this government is prepared to extend the coverage of the B.C. Hospital Insurance service to include those people suffering from a chronic ailment, and who are receiving either rehabilitative treatment or intensive services in a chronic hospital upon payment of a dollar a day.

"This dollar a day chronic care program is designed to fit into the national health care program when it starts," the minister said.

Won't Wait for Federal Plan

"The B.C. plan should be in operation in about a year's time and although it is not expected the national health care plan will be functioning at that time, the provincial government will carry the plan until the federal plan commences.

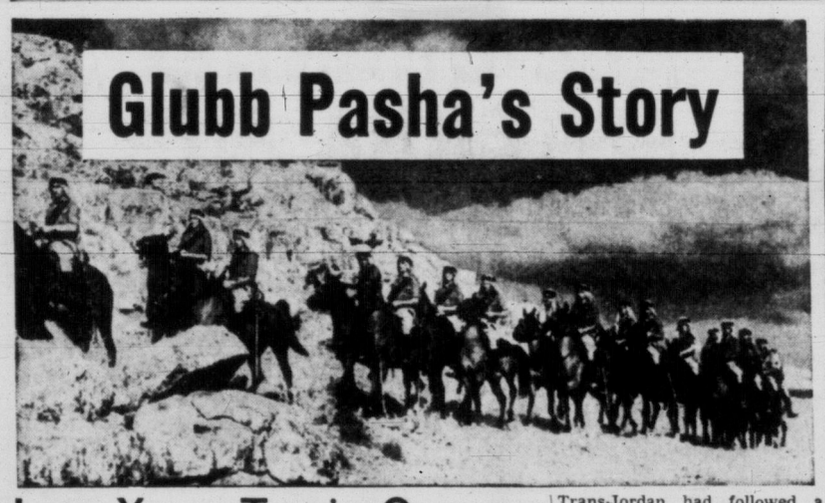
"Cost would be borne on a 70 cents per diem grant by municipalities, 70 cents per diem grant by the provincial government, $1 a day by the patient, and the remainder from consolidated revenues."

When the federal plan goes into operation, B.C. and Ottawa will split hospital costs, including the defined "chronic care" on a 50-50 basis.

Mr. Martin said, "it is anticipated this entry into care of certain chronic patients will spur on communities to construct much needed chronic hospital facilities.

"It is because of this that we intend to call a conference of hospital, municipal and other interested authorities in the near future. Such a construction program will be thoroughly aired at that time."

He said the program will serve to lessen the burden on acute hospital facilities.



Glubb Pasha's Story

Late Years Tragic Ones For Kingdom of Jordan

Firing of Lt.-Gen. John Glubb, British commander of the famed Arab Legion, by Jordan's young King Hussein, fanned the flames of the Arab-Israeli tension. This is the second of five articles.

By GLUBB PASHA

Copyright, 1956, by Canada-Wide Feature Service

In my Thursday article, I said that the incidents connected with my dismissal from the Arab Legion could only be understood if viewed in the light of the history of the last 40 years. I propose today to attempt a brief historical survey of those 40 years in Jordan.

The Kingdom of Jordan, as at present constituted, consists of two halves divided from one another by the River Jordan. East of the river lies Trans-Jordan, a country constituted into an Amirate (or principedom) in 1921. West of the Jordan lies that part of Palestine which still belongs to the Arabs. The two halves were united five years ago into the Kingdom of Jordan. The histories of these two halves from 1916 to 1948 were however entirely different, and must needs be treated separately.

Let us first consider Arab Palestine. In 1916, when the British army was advancing across Sinai to Palestine, the British government agreed with the Sherif Husain of Mecca that he would rise in revolt against the Turks. In return, he was promised that all the Arab countries would be freed from the Turks and given independent governments after the war. A year later, however, the British government issued the Balfour declaration, in which it was stated that Britain viewed with favour the establishment of a national home for the Jews in Palestine.

NURSED GRIEVANCE

For forty years, the Arabs of Palestine have nursed this grievance. In the last 20 years they have increasingly passed on their grievance to the Arabs outside Palestine. All our work in Jordan has been poisoned by the charge that Britain breaks her pledges.

From 1936 to 1939, the Arabs of Palestine rose in rebellion against the British mandatory government, which was permitting the entry of Jews on a large scale. There was a lull in the disturbances from 1939 to 1942, but in the latter year, Jewish terrorists in Palestine opened a campaign of atrocities against British troops. The Arab Legion, as an allied army, fought beside the British army against the Jewish terrorists from 1942 to 1948.

In 1947, Britain surrendered the mandate for Palestine, and evacuated the country on May 15, 1948.

Meanwhile, the history of Trans-Jordan had followed a course very different from that of Palestine. The British government had refused to allow Jews to migrate to Trans-Jordan, and in that country the original framework of Arab society remained in existence. In 1921, the Amir Abdullah, the son of Sherif Husain of Mecca (the recipient of the British promises in 1916) was proclaimed ruler. The Arab Legion was raised in 1921 as the Amir Abdullah's army.

From 1921 to 1939, Trans-Jordan advanced rapidly in prosperity and education under the wise patriarchy of the Amir Abdullah. In 1939, when war broke out, the Amir cabled to the British government offering all the resources of his country and army to the Allied cause. It is curious now to remember that the British government replied that the war would be confined to Europe and that the Middle East would not be affected.

DARKEST MOMENT

In 1940, however, France collapsed and the Germans and Italians arrived in Trans-Jordan's neighbor, Syria, which was a French mandate. In April, 1941, Iraq declared war on Britain. Meanwhile British troops had been evicted from Greece. It was the darkest moment of Britain's fortunes. But the Amir Abdullah was undismayed. No other Arab leader believed that Britain could survive.

The Amir Abdullah cabled his offer again, and this time it was gratefully accepted. The Arab Legion marched with the British army and invaded Syria, Arabia as far north as the frontier of Turkey was cleared of the enemy. We do not abandon our friends just because times are bad, declared the Amir Abdullah.

During the war, the strength of the Arab Legion rose to 16,000 men. Amid all the turmoils of war and politics, Trans-Jordan alone was always quiet, contented and friendly.

I distinctly remember an American pressman who spent a week in Trans-Jordan in 1945. He called on me before leaving. "General," he said, "I guess

BCHIS First-Year Coverage Given Families of Servicemen

Details of a plan to cover servicemen's dependents under BCHIS during their first year of residence in B.C. were announced today by Health Minister Eric Martin.

The plan, effective May 15, calls for graduated payments, and registration within two weeks of arrival in B.C.

Under existing conditions, servicemen's dependents are not eligible for BCHIS coverage for their first 12 months in B.C.

Mr. Martin said the provincial government will arrange for coverage "upon payment of a nominal registration fee set at $10 for a spouse, and $2.50 for each child, with a maximum of $20 per family."

OTTAWA BALKS

Mr. Martin said negotiations have been carried out with the Department of National Defence, with B.C. offering to bear more than two-thirds the cost of providing hospital insurance benefits, but that "the federal government has declared itself unwilling to meet any portion of the cost of such a plan."

"Coverage for the serviceman's family will commence when registration is made and the prescribed fee paid," said the health minister.

He stressed that registrations must be made within two weeks of arrival in B.C.

"Only servicemen normally posted to the province will be eligible, while those in the province briefly for inspectional, instructional or other special duty will not be eligible.

"Coverage will be in B.C. general hospitals only, but a serviceman posted out of the province within 12 months of registration, and whose dependents did not receive any hospital insurance benefits, may apply for a pro rata refund of the registration fee paid.

"All servicemen in the province at present may make registration up to May 15, at which time benefits of this plan will begin.

"Servicemen arriving after that date will be able to obtain coverage for their dependents if registration is made within two weeks of arrival."

DAWLEY ESCAPES LIFE SENTENCE — GIVEN SEVEN YEARS

'I Am in a State of Humiliation Toward Society'

Special to The Times

NANAIMO—Clifford Dawley, 46, till recently one of Canada's most wanted criminals, stood convicted in Assize Court here late Thursday afternoon and gave an impassioned plea for leniency.

Before he was sentenced to seven years and heard an habitual criminal charge dropped, Dawley said, "I am in a state of humiliation toward society."

He spoke fluently, his words flowing smoothly, earnestly. "I have failed and like a small child stung by a hornet, suffered. I have failed in my duty to a good wife." The packed courtroom, so hushed as to seem empty, was filled with the prisoner's low tones. "My one wish is to dedicate my life to my little girl and my wife who have taught me so many things," he said.

"And I realize that the attitude I have held toward my fellow men was wrong. I ask God to give me strength . . . the sun does not set so rosy when a man has lost his dignity. I ask leniency on behalf of my family."

There was silence in the court for a long moment, then Mr Justice H. W. McInnes replied:

"I also have to consider society. You were tried before a jury and myself on 7th and 8th of March in this court and found guilty of three charges. (Two of car theft and one of possession of housebreaking implements.)

"It is expedient to protect the public against you."

Previous to Dawley's appeal, Justice McInnes told the prisoner "you have not been held an an habitual criminal and have been given another chance. You have a long record and it is bad. If you are to be re-habilitated there must be

DREW BACKS ALL-CANADIAN GAS PIPELINE

By VICTOR J. MACKIE

OTTAWA — Battle lines have been drawn in what promises to be a long, hot Commons fight on the government's plan for public treasury help in a cross-Canada natural gas pipeline.

Possibility of United States capital taking control of the Alberta-Ontario natural gas pipeline caused Progressive Conservatives and the CCF to join forces Thursday to denounce the government's pipeline scheme as a blow to Canada's national pride.

Rt. Hon C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, said the federal government's plan for financial assistance from the Ottawa and Ontario treasuries, was the best of several schemes. The federal plan calls for a crown company to build the all-Canadian pipeline through the uneconomic, Manitoba-border-to-Kapuskasing section of the route.

Even before Mr. Howe could read his lengthy prepared state-

Crack French Unit Rushed to Algeria

Mushrooming Rebellion Prompts Emergency Meeting of Cabinet

(From Reuters, UP)

ALGIERS—At least 107 rebels today were reported killed near La Fayette, in eastern Algeria, in the fiercest battle since Algeria's Nationalist rebellion began 17 months ago.

This casualty figure was announced by officials here tonight after a 36-hour running battle in which French armored cars, infantry and jet fighters encircled and pounded a rebel band.

France ordered new reinforcements into Algeria today in a mighty effort to smash mushrooming violence and rebellion.

The move was ordered at a special meeting of cabinet members and army men in Paris as Arab guerillas set fire to an apartment house in the heart of Algiers this morning, apparently hoping to roast its French residents alive. No one was injured, but 100 automobiles in the building's garage were destroyed.

The crack Seventh Mechanized Division is being withdrawn from NATO forces in Germany and rushed to this terror-ridden land.

At Cyprus British authorities clamped a 24-hour curfew on the towns of Limassol and Kato Zodhia. The action placed their 76,000 inhabitants under virtual house arrest.

Meanwhile an Egyptian military spokesman at Cairo said an Israeli position opened automatic fire across the truce line at an Egyptian position near Deir el Ballah in the Gaza strip today.

Plan Starts in 1957; Excludes Bedridden

Health Minister Eric Martin today announced the B.C. government will provide chronic care under B.C. Hospital Insurance in one year.

He emphasized that nursing home patients, "or more specifically, the bedridden aged and infirm," will not be eligible for coverage.

Cost of chronic care to the individual patient will be on a "dollar-a-day" basis.

The new plan was described by Premier Bennett as the most important announcement made by his government concerning BCHIS.

Health Minister Martin said the program will go into operation in about one year's time, with B.C. carrying the financial burden until the federal government's national health program is functioning.

Details of the definition of chronic care have not yet been worked out between the federal and provincial governments, but Mr. Martin said the federal government's stand has been made clear.

"Its proposed program included care of chronic hospital patients requiring rehabilitation or other intensive treatment services, but not those receiving nursing home care, or more specifically, the bedridden and infirm patients," said Mr. Martin.

Initial impact of the plan will be to lift a heavy case load of chronic patients from B.C.'s acute care hospitals.

Multi-Million Hospital Expansion

Mr. Martin said the first step in the plan will be a vigorous effort on the part of the provincial government to get a multi-million dollar chronic hospital building program under way.

It is estimated that one chronic bed will be required for every 1,000 of population. The figure does not include nursing homes or other custodial forms of facility.

At an estimated cost of $8,000 a bed, B.C. would require 1,300 chronic beds at a total cost of $10,400,000.

"For the past two years, efforts have been made to encourage communities to construct chronic hospital facilities," said Mr. Martin.

"The most generous construction formula in Canada was devised, whereby the province would pay 50 per cent of the costs. But it was to no avail, because the communities could not face the cost of operation.

"It gives me pleasure to announce that this government is prepared to extend the coverage of the B.C. Hospital Insurance service to include those people suffering from a chronic ailment, and who are receiving either rehabilitative treatment or intensive services in a chronic hospital upon payment of a dollar a day.

"This dollar a day chronic care program is designed to fit into the national health care program when it starts," the minister said.

Won't Wait for Federal Plan

"The B.C. plan should be in operation in about a year's time and although it is not expected the national health care plan will be functioning at that time, the provincial government will carry the plan until the federal plan commences.

"Cost would be borne on a 70 cents per diem grant by municipalities, 70 cents per diem grant by the provincial government, $1 a day by the patient, and the remainder from consolidated revenues."

When the federal plan goes into operation, B.C. and Ottawa will split hospital costs, including the defined "chronic care" on a 50-50 basis.

Mr. Martin said, "it is anticipated this entry into care of certain chronic patients will spur on communities to construct much needed chronic hospital facilities.

"It is because of this that we intend to call a conference of hospital, municipal and other interested authorities in the near future. Such a construction program will be thoroughly aired at that time."

He said the program will serve to lessen the burden on acute hospital facilities.

BCHIS Plan Extended To All Servicemen

Details of a plan to cover servicemen's dependents under BCHIS during their first year of residence in B.C. were announced today by Health Minister Eric Martin.

The plan, effective May 15, calls for graduated payments, and registration within two weeks of arrival in B.C.

Under existing conditions, servicemen's dependents are not eligible for BCHIS coverage for their first 12 months in B.C.

Mr. Martin said the provincial government will arrange for coverage "upon payment of a nominal registration fee set at $10 for a spouse, and $2.50 for each child, with a maximum of $20 per family."

Mr. Martin said negotiations have been carried out with the Department of National Defence, with B.C. offering to bear more than two-thirds the cost of providing hospital insurance benefits, but that "the federal government has declared itself unwilling to meet any portion of the cost of such a plan."

"Coverage for the serviceman's family will commence when registration is made and the prescribed fee paid," said the health minister.

He stressed that registrations must be made within two weeks of arrival in B.C.

DAWLEY ESCAPES POSSIBLE LIFE SENTENCE — GIVEN SEVEN YEARS

'I Am in a State of Humiliation Toward Society'

Special to The Times

NANAIMO—Clifford Dawley, 46, till recently one of Canada's most wanted criminals, stood convicted in Assize Court here late Thursday afternoon and gave an impassioned plea for leniency.

Before he was sentenced to seven years and heard an habitual criminal charge dropped, Dawley said, "I am in a state of humiliation toward society."

He spoke fluently, his words flowing smoothly, earnestly. "I have failed and like a small child stung by a hornet, suffered. I have failed in my duty to a good wife." The packed courtroom, so hushed as to seem empty, was filled with the prisoner's low tones. "My one wish is to dedicate my life to my little girl and my wife who have taught me so many things," he said.

"And I realize that the attitude I have held toward my fellow men was wrong. I ask God to give me strength . . . the sun does not set so rosy when a man has lost his dignity. I ask leniency on behalf of my family."

There was silence in the court for a long moment, then Mr Justice H. W. McInnes replied: "I also have to consider society. You were tried before a jury and myself on 7th and 8th of March in this court and found guilty of three charges. (Two o car theft and one of possession of housebreaking implements.)

"It is expedient to protect the public against you."

Previous to Dawley's appeal, Mr. Justice McInnes told the prisoner "you have not been held as an habitual criminal and have been given another chance. You have a long record and it is bad. If you are to be re-habilitated there must be time left in which you will receive benefit."

Case re-opened Thursday afternoon at 2.30 with defence lawyer Larry Hill, Vancouver, claiming there was no evidence
